Here are four of the 12 United States delegates to the Congress of American Republics, to be held in Lima, Peru, next month. The conference takes on additional significance in view of the president's announced desire to achieve a united trade and defense agreement that will embrace the entire western hemisphere.

Roosevelt Sets 'Stop' Signal For Fascism

Invites 20 Republics, Canada to Unite With U. S. In Defense Program; Nazi Persecution of Jews Draws Blistering Criticism.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt has circled the western hemisphere with a boldly drawn deadline against fascism and today invited 20 sister republics and the Dominion of Canada to help the United States defend it against aggression.

"Continental defense" has superseded "national defense" in American policy.

He coupled his defense announcement with terse and blistering comment on German persecution of Jews. It followed shortly the United States' protest against "unwarranted" Japanese violations of American property rights in China, and warnings to Italy to respect rights of American Jewish nationals.

This establishment of United States defense on a "continental basis" in partnership with the 21 peoples who occupy the western hemisphere with us spotlights the forthcoming Pan-American conference in Lima, capital of Peru, as a meeting to bulwark the new world against floodtides running riot in Europe and Asia. Secretary of State Hull will sail Nov. 25 as head of the American delegation to Lima. The conference will begin Dec. 9.

Press for Speed.

There is no excitement but a steady pressure for speed here as the United States prepares to live in a newly troubled world.

War department officials talk of basic equipment for a field army of 1,000,000 men and they want it quick—within eight months, some of them insist. Back of it all are hope and belief that a continental partnership would be too imposing for any aggressor to dare adventure in the new world.

AULT NAMES 9

Highway Chief Picks Engineers to Fill Vacancies.

Appointment of nine acting division state highway engineers was announced today by Ivan R. Ault of Ashland, newly appointed state highway director.

Ault was formerly engineer in the Third district at Ashland. John J. Jaster, retiring director, named H. A. Keller, Ashland, to succeed Ault as head of the Third district Saturday, a short time before he resigned.

The nine new appointees replace division directors who resigned last week because of political differences with Gov. Martin L. Davey over campaign activities in behalf of Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor.

Ault yesterday appointed Archie E. Ranney of Ravenna as acting assistant director. Ranney had been engineer in division No. 4.

U. S.-GERMANY TRADE SLUMPS

American Purchases at Record Low, Washington Says.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Commerce department statistics revealed today that United States purchases from Germany have dropped to one of the lowest points in the history of German-American trade relations.

Imports from Germany during the nine months ending in September totaled approximately $44,000,000, or about $25,000,000 less than during the same period of 1937.

Ten years ago, this country brought more than $193,000,000 worth of goods from Germany in the first nine months of the year or about four and a half times the total of the same period this year.

FACES DEATH QUIZ

MARION—(AP)—Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel said today he planned to question Cody Phelps of Huntington, W. Va., whose truck struck and killed Daniel Miley, 54, and William Titelbaugh, 50, state highway workers, near here yesterday.

Historic Blockhouse Damaged By Fire

FIRE DESTROYS FIRST FLOOR OF LANDMARK

Blaze of Unknown Origin Hits Old Fort Erected During War of 1812.

NEIGHBOR SOUNDS ALARM

City's Oldest Structure, Now Used by Boy Scouts, Was Moved to Park In 1908.

Mansfield's oldest landmark — the historic blockhouse in South park which for years withstood the ravages of marauding Indians when the early Richland county pioneers settled at what is now Central park—was damaged by fire late yesterday afternoon that for a time threatened to destroy the entire structure.

The old log fort, erected during the War of 1812, four years after the founding of the city of Mansfield, was saved from destruction by city firemen who battled the blaze for more than an hour.

Use 800 Feet of Hose.

Under the direction of Capt. Leo T. Saltzgaber, Company No. 1 laid 800 feet of hose to the structure which sets back in the park west of Brinkerhoff avenue.

Firemen were called by a resident living near the park who saw smoke rolling from the upper portion of the building. Origin of the blaze was unknown, Capt. Saltzgaber said.

The entire floor in the lower part of the blockhouse was burned away and the walls badly charred. Damage to the upper portion of the building was comparatively slight.

The heavy log structure, hewed from the early forests which surrounded what was to become the city of Mansfield, was moved to South park from the square where it had stood for 100 years, during the centennial celebration of 1908. It was purchased by the Mansfield Historical society and turned over to the city.

Scout Quarters Since '29.

In 1929 the blockhouse which had served as the first county courthouse, jail and the city's first schoolhouse, was taken over by troop 6 of the Boy Scouts for a meeting quarters.

SPLITS BONUS

Westinghouse Resumes Profit Sharing, Pays 3 Per Cent.

Employes of the Mansfield Westinghouse works and the company's 10 other plants from coast to coast will receive a 3 per cent bonus this month as the result of improved business earnings, company officials announced today.

Payment of the bonus this month will resume a practice started in 1935 and dropped temporarily in October because of reduced earnings.

The monthly bonuses, based on the pay of individual employes, ranged from 16 per cent in August, 1937, to nothing in October, this year. The profit-sharing bonus is figured from the net earnings of the company for the three preceding months.

1,200 AT 2ND FOOD SESSION

Interest In Cooking School Continues to Soar; Crowd Nearly Fills Theater.

The odor of baking ham, hot biscuits and fried meat pies drifted through the auditorium of the Ohio theater today where more than 1,200 women crowded the downstairs and overflowed into the balcony at The News-Journal's cooking school.

Just as yesterday was the largest first day's attendance at any cooking school, so today was the largest for a second day. John A. Plumb, advertising manager of The News-Journal, in charge of arrangements for the school, said that if the attendance increased proportionately each day, the Ohio theater would not hold the crowd on Friday, the final day.

Miss Chambers, who is lecturing here for the second time this year, holds the interest of the crowded theater by demonstrating not only new, attractive recipes, but fundamental rules to be used in preparing the everyday foods.

Today she made a biscuit dough which may be stored in a refrigerator and a strawberry short cake with frosted strawberries.

Among her meat dishes were meat puffs in which she combined mashed potatoes and ground meat with onion and egg and cooked as dumplings in tomato soup; a pork-stuffed veal breast, Chinese chop suey, fried meat pies, country-style round steak and a lamb roast.

She whipped up a devil's food cake in practically nothing flat and before the school session was over had iced it with a delicious soft icing.

One of her new and attractive dishes for tomorrow will be ham stacks, made with ground ham, mashed sweet potatoes and slices of pineapple.

The school opened Tuesday and runs through Thursday and Friday. The sessions open at 9 and close at 11:30 with a parade of the attractive dishes.

Tomorrow and Friday free parking space for those who attend the school will be provided at the Mansfield Tire Service store, 157 Park avenue west, across the street from the theater, Bart Haley, manager, announced today.

KILLS 4TH THUG

Cincinnati Policeman Shoots Man Reaching for Gun.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Patrolman Joseph Casey today killed a man in the line of duty. It was the fourth such killing for Casey in 13 years.

Patrolman Casey's fourth victim was an unidentified colored man, suspected of burglary. He fired three shots at his assailant when the latter reached for his pocket.

U. S., BRITAIN READY TO SIGN TRADE TREATY

Pact to Get Final Approval Tomorrow; Agreement With Canada Broadened.

NEGOTIATE 6 MONTHS

Nations to Announce Details Of Accord After Official Representatives Sign.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The state department announced today the trade agreements with Great Britain and Canada would be signed at the White House tomorrow at 4 p. m.

Secretary of State Hull will sign for the United States.

Canadian Prime Minister MacKenzie King will sign for Canada.

Treaties Total 19.

The trade agreement with the United Kingdom was completed after six months of negotiation. The British agreement brings the total number of trade agreements concluded to 19. The Canadian agreement is an enlargement of the existing Canadian agreement which expires Dec. 31.

Details of both agreements, including the hundreds of items on which tariff concessions have been made, will be announced for publication Friday morning.

'Most Important.'

The complete release numbers hundreds of pages, since the British agreement is the most important yet completed. It has been regarded as the apex of Secretary Hull's cherished program to stimulate world trade.

Great Britain is the United States' best customer, having taken more than half a billion dollars in American exports in 1937.

The agreement with Great Britain, the state department said, includes also Northern Ireland and the world-scattered British colonial empire, including her possessions in Latin America.

LEWIS BARKS

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— John L. Lewis today crushed a leftwing revolt at the convention of the "Congress of Industrial Organizations."

Lewis took the floor to explain the position of CIO officers in connection with an impasse that arose late yesterday when maritime leaders, led by Harry Bridges, of the west coast, sought to amend the organization's constitution now under consideration.

Explaining that, under parliamentary procedure, sections of the constitution cannot be amended, tabled, recommitted until after the convention has had an opportunity to express itself, Lewis tossed his massive head and barked:

"I hope there will be no further misunderstandings on this subject."

BROMFIELD MADE OBERLIN EDITOR

Given Honorary Post on College Paper for Literary Works.

Louis Bromfield, Mansfield-born novelist, today became honorary editor-in-chief of the Oberlin Review, Oberlin College student newspaper, in recognition of his contribution to American literature.

Bromfield won the Pulitzer prize in 1927 for the best American novel, with "Early Autumn," one of a trilogy of novels with Mansfield as the locale.

Bromfield, who has been in France for the past 14 years, arrived in Oberlin Monday to rejoin his family who came there during the war scare in Europe. He plans to visit Mansfield this week and will start his search for his "dream farm" in Richland county, where he hopes to build a permanent home.

Speculation Stirred By Roosevelt Cabinet Shift

Jackson, Seen as New Attorney General, Also Looms As President's Choice for Election In 1940.

WASHINGTON—Politicians and industrialists joined today in casting an appraising eye on announcement that Homer S. Cummings would retire as President Roosevelt's attorney general early in January.

The politically-minded foresaw appointment of Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson to the cabinet post and subsequently a possible build-up of the New Yorker as a New Deal presidential candidate in 1940.

New Changes Seen.

Both politicians and business men further pondered President Roosevelt's statement that no other cabinet resignations were in sight—as yet. It has been rumored persistently that Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper was on the verge of retirement, with PWA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins slated to succeed him.

Should Hopkins be named to the cabinet, there would be immediate speculation that he, too, as a White House favorite, was being groomed for 1940.

It has also been reported that Postmaster General James A. Farley is preparing to resign from the cabinet.

James Roosevelt, the president's son, who has also been his secretary, resigned yesterday. He has been ordered by doctors to take a complete rest following his recent operation for gastric ulcers. The president announced a successor would be named soon.

CONNIE SUES

Talmadge, Star of Silent Films, and Third Mate Split.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Constance Talmadge, a star of the silent films, has come to the parting of the ways with her third husband.

Charging desertion, she filed suit for divorce yesterday from Townsend Netcher.

NO COLONIES

France to Give Up No Land to Nazis, Says Daladier.

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Daladier today declared that his government would cede no colonies to Germany and that it would protect the colonial integrity of France as established after the World war.

No such measure as cession of colonial territories has even been considered, said the premier in a statement to the press designed to quiet anxious questions, especially from members of parliament.

LONDON — (INS) — The British government does not intend to take any independent action to surrender any territories, including former German colonies, which it now holds in Africa to any foreign power, it was officially announced today.

DOOMED TO DIE

Clevelander Convicted In Slaying of Used Car Dealer.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A jury verdict today decreed death in the electric chair for Frank Tracy, 32, Cleveland, accused of killing David Haskins, Columbus used car dealer, during a holdup last July 17. The trial lasted only two days. Records showed that Tracy had spent more than 13 years in prisons previously.

BERLIN SLAMS 'PARTIALITY' BY ROOSEVELT

U. S. President 'Closes Eyes And Ears' to Other Events, Official Comments.

WILSON PACKING UP

Statement From White House Blasts at Recent 'Shocking' Events In Germany.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—A stiff German reply to President Roosevelt's statement attacking anti-Jewish measures in the reich was awaited today as United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson prepared to depart for Washington for consultations with American officials.

It was expected that the American president's declaration to the press would bring strongly worded official German comment following careful consideration by all reich government agencies concerned.

Charge 'Partiality.'

International News Service was informed semi-officially by highly important political circles that competent German quarters resent President Roosevelt's alleged "partiality." One source commented:

"The president is showing remarkable interest in happenings in Germany, while apparently he is closing his eyes and ears to events in other countries.

"His sympathetic attentions seem to be limited geographically.

"We have never heard that President Roosevelt was 'shocked' by events in Spain, where thousands have been murdered in the most brutal way, where churches have been gutted and women and children subjected to unspeakable torture.

"We have never heard a similar statement about occurrences in the Soviet Union.

"On the contrary, President Roosevelt singled out the chief of the Soviet government for messages of congratulation and felicitation.

"This tends to show that the president views matters in Europe with one-sided partiality."

Protest Property Damage.

Meanwhile, German-American relations took a new turn with revelation that the American embassy made formal representations.

You Thought It Was Cold? Well, It Was—20 Above

Mansfield was the "ice box" of northern Ohio last night when the temperature here dropped to 20 degrees above zero, coldest of the season, and 12 degrees below freezing.

The Mansfield reading not only was the lowest reported in Ohio but it was two degrees under the low of 22 degrees recorded at Winnipeg, Canada, usually one of the coldest spots on the continent.

A severe cold wave centered in eastern Canada dropped the mercury to zero at White River, Ont., and heavy snow was reported in northern New York and sections of New England.

Cleveland and Columbus had readings of 30 degrees, while Cincinnati reported 32, Duluth, Minn., 24, and Minneapolis, 24.

The temperature in Mansfield had climbed only to 43 degrees at noon. Yesterday's high was 49.

The weather man predicted rain and warmer for tonight, and generally fair and warmer Thursday.

CRITICIZE DAY

Wayne County Republicans Angered by Bulkley Endorsement.

WOOSTER —(INS)— The Wayne county Republican central and executive committees, which endorsed Judge Arthur Day of the Ohio supreme court in his unsuccessful candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination, today adopted strong resolutions censuring him for his endorsement of Senator Robert J. Bulkley (D).

Day announced shortly before the Nov. 8 election he would cast his vote for Bulkley, rather than for Robert A. Taft (R) who defeated the Democratic incumbent.

3 Die, 15 Wounded as Hunting Season Opens; Game Plentiful

Undeterred by the fact that three men died and at least 15 others were injured by shot gun shells yesterday afternoon as the hunting season opened, thousands of hunters again took to the fields today for the first full day of the season.

W. J. LaFayette, 40, Steubenville minister, was killed near Cadiz when a companion's gun slid down an embankment and the trigger was set off by a rock. Thomas Boston, 18, of Letrat Falls, Meigs county, died in Gallipolis hospital of neck wounds. He was riding in a truck with his shotgun between his knees when the truck struck a bump. W. J. Rearick, 60, dropped dead while hunting near Dover.

Wounds received in hunting accidents over the state ranged from shattered legs and arms to a thumb blown off when a novice hunter held his hand over the muzzle of his gun.

It was estimated that 600,000 hunters were in the fields yesterday. In nine counties cars were stopped and searched by game wardens, assisted by state patrolmen. In Delaware county there were 13 arrests, with $372 in fines, and in Ross county 603 autos were stopped and a total of $435 in fines and costs assessed against 20 violators of the bag limit. Other counties in which cars were searched were Greene, Seneca, Allen, Marion, Lucas, Clinton and Williams.

Wyandot county was a mecca for nimrods from this part of the state. Radio commentators had

$210,000 In Christmas Club Savings To Go To 5,000 Here

Mansfield's four banks will distribute $210,000 in Christmas savings funds Dec. 1 to give Santa Claus an early start in his annual visit to the Mansfield area.

Checks ranging from $12.50 to $250 will go to nearly 5,000 persons to help launch the holiday shopping season and pay bills before the end of the year, Mansfield bankers said today.

The funds are expected to lead to a sharp retail business pick-up in the city.

The nation's Christmas savings checks are expected to amount to $330,000,000, with Ohioans receiving about $15,000,000 from their holiday accounts.

At least 32 per cent of the funds will be used for Christmas gift purchases, while 26 per cent will go into permanent savings, 14 per cent will be used to pay year-end bills, and the rest will pay incidental expenses in the home, surveys showed.

Final payments on the Christmas savings accounts, started last December, will be made this week, and banks said the holiday checks would be in the mail two weeks from today.

Slackened business and industrial activities during the past year put a damper on the savings plans of a number of Mansfielders, reducing the 1938 savings about seven per cent, or $15,000 under last year's figures.

Children Add Much To Home

(One in a Series)
(By BEATRICE FAIRFAX)

Some women are neither domestic nor maternal. Something vital has been left out of their composition. It's not their fault. It's only sad to think how much they are missing.

When a girl lacks this most civilizing of influences, she has lost the thing which really makes her count as a woman.

Six Ways To Lose Him, Or Her.

She has her counterpart in the man whose home is anywhere he hangs his hat, and he too regards children as a menace. If men and women who lack the fundamental urge to mate, make homes, and rear children, will only wait for each other, they will be infinitely happier than if they mated with the normal home-loving, child-loving type.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I too disliked 'howling brats,' and permitted an adoring husband and kind friends who meant well, to persuade me to have a child. Throughout its baby years I had competent servants and a nurse to assume the physical care. As my child passed from the infant state I overcame my resentment and bitterness, but never have I overcome the tiresome monotony and deadly boredom of child guidance and direction.

"I am fond of the child now—after a fashion—but how much more satisfactorily I could have lived without it. Please, please, I beg of you, recognize the established fact that all women who biologically may become mothers, may NOT have the maternal feeling. Being a happy and adequate mother is a career in itself.

"Would you advise a reader to study and assume a career, in which she knew beforehand, she had no interest? The small percentage of women who think they do not want children and have them anyway, only to discover they do feel differently is too small to justify the risk. The percentage of such women who have children and make good mothers, is smaller still.

Bored Mother."

The letter gave the writer's views at much greater length which we haven't space to print. It does, of course, give a perfect picture of a woman bereft of the maternal instinct. But, if this mother were to lose the child, she speaks of so casually, she would realize, I believe, how empty life would be without this little one. That tragedy has happened many times. Here's hoping this mother may never experience the sorrow of knowing, too late, what her child means to her.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Nov. 17.

THE SOCIAL, intellectual and creative abilities are under high stimuli on this day, judging by interesting lunar and mutual aspects. Those in high places of prestige and power may be attracted by originality, constructive plans and propositions, but be careful with strangers. It is probable that the social, emotional or cultural activities may claim a major share of the attention, although intellectual faculties are under excellent impetus for creative work.

Those whose birthday it is are under auguries for success through heightened intellectual or artistic faculties. They have the prospect of attracting the recognition and practical support of superiors, employers or friends in power. It is a favorable time for creative work in this direction. Also, there are emotional or sentimental urges which may be fanned to happy culminations.

A child born on this day may be energetic and creative in lines of an intellectual, cultural or social order, attracting support from superiors and influential friends. There may be little temperamental expressions to be controlled lest they interfer with its progress.

Two quarts of good garden loam, one pint of leafmold and one cup of sand makes an excellent potting soil for plants. Use plenty of broken pottery for drainage.

Plan meals in advance, with concern for the use of leftovers, which will aid in saving energy in preparation.

Always sift sugar before using. To get all grains alike. You will then have a cake of finer texture.

Unusual Suggestions Today

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Now that winter time, soup time, is here, we feel that we ought to come through with an ode to soup. But, instead, we will compromise and offer a grand recipe for a vegetable soup dinner, as tasty and satisfying a dish as we have enjoyed in many a day.

It needs two pounds of rump steak in one piece, two teaspoons salt, one pint tomatoes, one cup diced onion, one-eighth teaspoon black pepper, one cup diced turnips, two-thirds quarts water, one-half teaspoon chili powder, one tablespoon celery seed. Cover the meat with cold water, first removing excess fat. Simmer about two hours, skimming occasionally to remove scum and grease. Add the vegetables and seasonings and cook until vegetables are tender. Serve hot with meat on a side dish. Plenty of bread and butter and a nice fruity dessert complete a splendid winter meal.

Orchid Soup.

Orchid soup is so beautiful that we have heard women say that it is too pretty to eat! But that doesn't stop the menfolk from enjoying it, too. It is nicer than the difficult-to-make Borscht, although somewhat like it. This recipe calls for eight large beets, one large onion, four cloves, one-quarter teaspoon celery seed, salt, pepper, chopped parsley, sour cream, three cups water and one quart buttermilk. Boil the beets until tender, remove skins, slice with the onion and place in kettle with three cups of water, the celery seed, cloves, salt and pepper. Simmer two hours, then sieve until smooth. Add a quart of buttermilk and bring to boiling point. Serve garnished with one tablespoon sour cream to each portion, topped with chopped parsley.

Candied Carrots.

Another good kitchen pal is the yellow carrot, full of vim, vigor and iron! Candied carrots should be on your menu ever so often. For one bunch of young carrots, sliced lengthwise, you will require three-quarters cup of sugar, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg, one cup boiling water, paprika, one pound of butter and salt. Place the carrots in a deep, covered saucepan and mix in the sugar and the salt. Cover with boiling water. Cover closely and cook until tender. Add hot water from time to time if there is any danger of burning. When done, add the butter and nutmeg. Garnish liberally with paprika.

And how about sweet potatoes fashioned into delicate croquettes when you're stumped for ideas? This formula calls for cooked sweet potatoes, salt, corn flakes, sugar, nutmeg and butter. Rice the sweet potatoes. Season with small amount of sugar and salt to taste. Cook, then form into individual flat cakes, as many as needed. Place a firm lump of butter in the middle of each. Sprinkle generously with nutmeg. Fold edges of the cake over, forming cake into croquette without disturbing butter. Dip each croquette into crushed corn flakes and fry in hot fat. If croquettes seem too soft for frying, firm in refrigerator. When cooked to a deep brown, they will still retain butter in the center, unmelted but soft.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Yeah," she drawled, and I paid mental tribute to her histrionism as I heard the derisive inflection in her voice and saw the impish laughter dancing in her eyes. "I guess darling Pa-pa-in-law is the dazzling brain behind the espionage, all right."

"Then," Hank said savagely, "he's the fellow whose ears we'll cut off."

Mary gave a silvery little laugh that I knew must have cost her a distinct effort.

"Now, Hank," she remonstrated. "Just think how embarrassed I'd be with a father-in-law sans ears. It's something that just isn't done in polite society. Besides, you've got a wrong slant on this. You're going on the theory that this sleuthing and spying around is something personal and special that deah old Phil is handing out to me."

"Well! isn't it?" Bill's belligerent tones held a puzzled note.

"Auntie Madge can answer you that better than I can," Mary said, and I knew she was sparring for time. Then inspiration patently descended upon her and she spoke decisively.

Madge Catches Clue.

"She can tell you," she said, that the great Mr. Vertizen is a MARTINET with every letter a capital where anybody he's training is concerned."

"Don't qualify, Mary," I said smiling. "Make it everybody."

She flashed me a grateful smile for catching her cue.

"That's probably better," she said. "But, darling, doesn't he pay especial and particular attention to the unfortunate ladies he's grooming for roles in his productions?"

I went into action with all the ammunition I had gathered while she was speaking.

"Indeed he does," I said with emphasis. "You see, boys,"—I faced the wide-eyed lads with my face suddenly serious—"he is so insistent upon perfection in the rendition of his roles that he spares neither himself nor the stars he is training. He will not tolerate the slightest deviation from his rules of isolation and the daily grind of study he demands. And to be sure that his students are obeying his rules, he has their movements checked daily and reported to him. For instance, it's going to take all my diplomacy and authority, as Mary's chaperone and the judge of her daily routine, to satisfy her father-in-law that this outing, which he will consider a most flagrant violation of his rules, is really beneficial to her health and nerves, and that, in my opinion, she sorely needed the relaxation."

"Old Buzzard."

"The old buzzard!" Bill exclaimed, and my lips twitched at his borrowing one of his sister's epithets. "But I suppose if he does this to all his women stars, you have to stand for it and we have to keep our hands off. But if you ever make up your mind he needs a good punching, just send for us."

"I'll keep it in mind, darling," Mary said. "And now," she went on, "suppose we forget everything unpleasant, and just remember that we're going to have the time of our young lives this afternoon. Let's make it something to remember until we get together again the next time you come down from Worcester."

Dress Will Help Hide Defects

By MME. QUI VIVE

Teacher has twanged many a time on one beauty string: if a woman has figure defects and won't make an effort to overcome them she should at least learn tricks of dress that will disguise them.

Laurene Hempstead, author, gives some good advice to the woman who has developed a tummy bulge through bad posture or lack of exercise. She deplores the one-piece dress as revealing the horrid shelf, advocates the skirt and blouse, the blouse to be of loose fit.

"The weight of the one-piece dress pulls the material tightly over the abdomen," she says, "while the two piece dress distributes the weight and hangs in more slender lines over the abdomen. The short bolero makes the diaphragm more conspicuous; a longer one balances the figure and tends to conceal its defects."

Disproportionately large hips have a whole chapter. The author disapproves of the hippy lady who has a sleek smooth coiffure, snug bodice and flaring skirt because she creates a silhouette that is narrow at the top, wide at the base, a triangle that lacks grace and balance, and therefore, emphasizes the figure defect. The flare of the full skirt should begin above the largest part of the hips. It will then conceal the actual contours.

Round shoulders are a common trouble these days when few women have a queenly carriage or take the trouble to make their back bones give full support. It is shameful that pretty figures lose snap and grace. If they must be slouchy of pose let them learn how to dress.

"Raglan and kimona sleeves exaggerate round shoulders," says the author of "Look Your Best." Even persons with normal shoulders may appear stooped when wearing garments cut with these types of shoulders. Shoulder seams slanting forward are unbecoming. Heavy details in front (of the blouse) are unbecoming: correctly placed at the back, becoming."

She recommends the square or pointed neckline, never the round one. Circular capes make shoulders even more humped. The definite waistline brings out the bad lines of round shoulders.

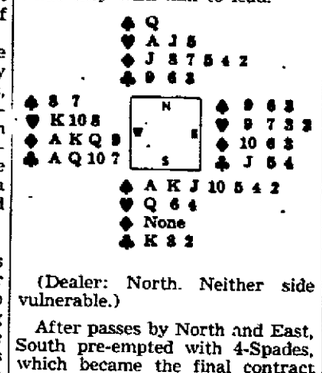
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WEAR HIM DOWN

A boxer frequently adopts the strategy of tiring out his opponent by means of body punches, which do no particular immediate damage but sap his strength, getting him ready for the finishing knockout punch later on. Declarers are sometimes like that when they run a long series of sure tricks in careful order, stripping a defender's hand to the point where he has nothing left to lead back, when he eventually gets a trick, except what they wish him to lead.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

After passes by North and East, South pre-empted with 4-Spades, which became the final contract on this deal.

The diamond K was West's opening lead, which South trumped. Declarer could see nine tricks in sight, if the heart finesse was right, and his problem was where he could obtain the tenth. His first hope was that West led from a three card diamond suit, in which event he might set up dummy's diamonds.

Based on this plan, he led to the spade Q and ruffed a diamond. Next he cashed his two high trumps and finessed the heart J. When a diamond was ruffed West played low, his chances for setting up that suit failed. He then led to the heart A and played a diamond, on which he discarded a heart. West won the trick, cashed his heart K and club A, but had to give a club trick to South.

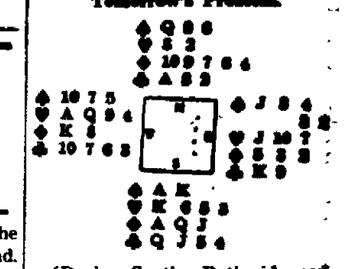
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should South attempt to make his contract of 3-No Trump after the lead of the heart 4?

Sandusky Quits Buckeye

* * * * *

New League Possible Bow

* * * * *

Mansfield Possible Member

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

TIME is now ripe for the organization of the oft-proposed athletic league which would include Mansfield and Sandusky. Sandusky's withdrawal from the Buckeye circuit because of its strength on the gridiron puts the school in the same position as Mansfield, and there is no question that both schools would be better off from a financial standpoint if affiliated with some conference.

Whether officials at Mansfield and Sandusky are interested in the formation of a new circuit is not known, but football followers of the two schools would approve a tie-up in a league of larger cities, we believe.

Canton McKinley and Massillon might even be included in the membership of a new league, but there is some question whether either would be interested. These two grid powers hav done mighty well under their present set-ups, and do not need the help of conference rivalries to pack the stands.

Also, it probably would be unfair to schools like Mansfield and Sandusky to compete in championship play with Canton and Massillon, which put more emphasis on football than any other schools in the state. It would be necessary for Mansfield, and Sandusky, too, for that matter, to enlarge their athletic systems to compete on equal footing with Canton and Massillon.

Although Sandusky withdrew from the conferance for lack of competition, it is doubtful whether the Blue Streak officials have any desire to become mixed up in rivalries with Canton and Massillon. Judging from the announcement which appeared in the Sandusky Daily News about the withdrawal, the Blue Streaks will concentrate on foes of the type of Lorain, Elyria, and Toledo Waite, which can be classified a notch below the Canton-Massillon brand of football.

Mansfield will continue to play Canton and Massillon, but may find it difficult to win consistently because of the difference in which the sport is promoted in the schools.

Just which schools would fit into a circuit built around Mansfield and Canton is problematical. Elyria would be a welcome addition. So would Lorain. Northeastern Ohio offers several potential members other than Canton and Massillon, but their distance from the cities in this vicinity might make them undesirable for the proposed set-up.

Perhaps nothing will come of the proposal to organize, but Mansfield has missed conference football. Sandusky will, too. So, eventually, if not immediately, something may happen to spur the organization of a conference second to none in strength in Ohio.

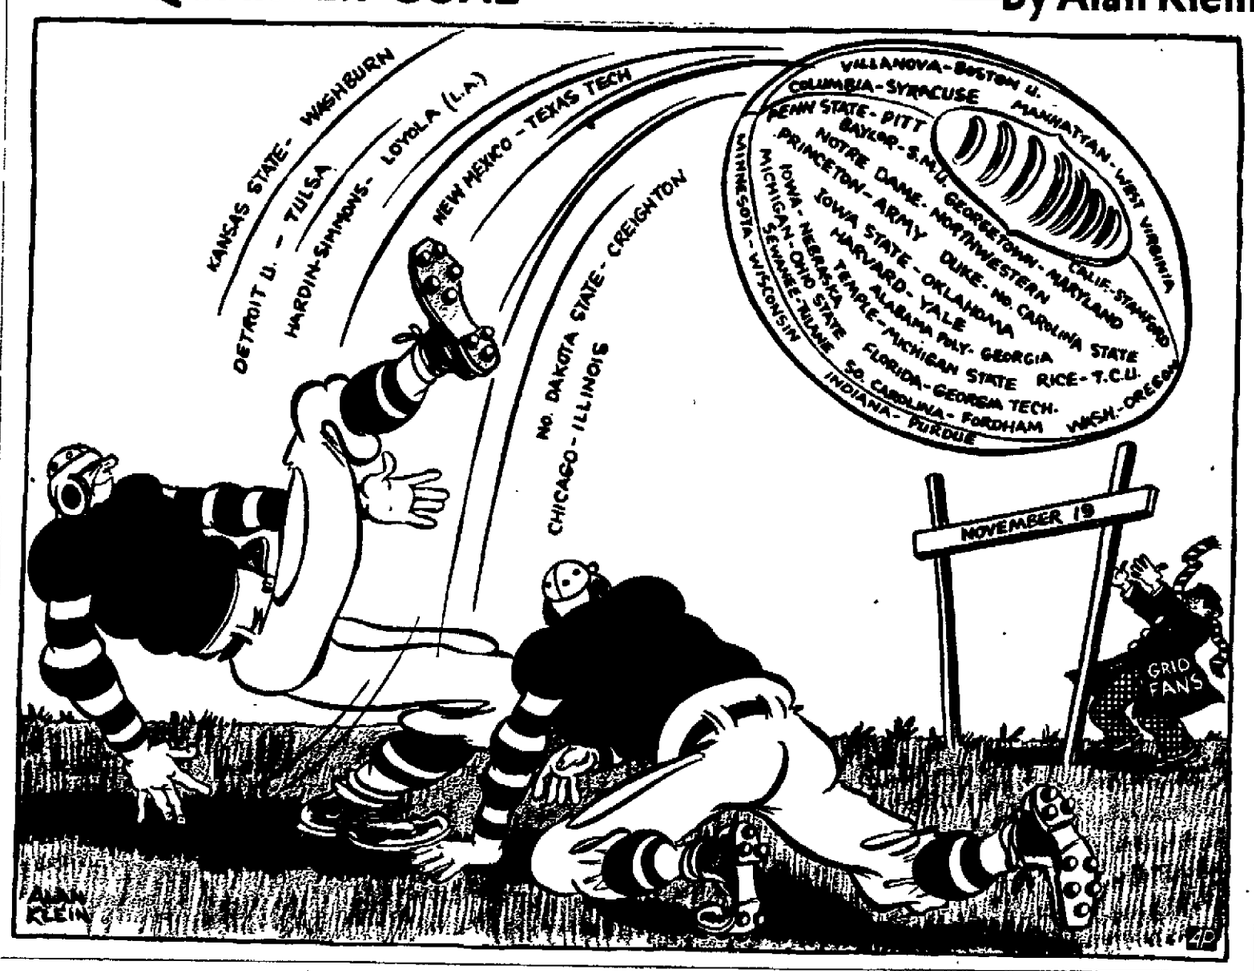
Galento's Title Hopes Killed In Thomas Fight.

SID FEDER SAYS: The next mackerel you fish up out of the barrel isn't any colder and deader than Tony Galento's No. 1 challenger hopes right now. . . . The so-called Thomas fight was as unconvincing an exhibition by a pair of experts as a couple of elephants in a shag contest. . . . None other than Jock Sutherland, who can spot the handwriting on the wall at 50 yards, won himself one dozen custom made shirts picking that Cornell-over-Dartmouth upset. . . . Isn't it about time baseball stopped kidding itself and made room for a couple of guys as smart as Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Wilson? . . .

Hymie Caplin, who figures his Solly Krieger got a raw deal in the middleweight business, is thinking of putting pickets around the New York title go between Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett Friday. . . . Hey, Hymie, how about signs for the boys reading: "Don't go inside—it's just a folly; who's the champ? Why me and Solly." . . . If you like to figure out reasons to pick the upsets, consider that South Carolina has won two and tied one in starts against Notre Dame coached teams this year, and Saturday steps out against Fordham, piloted by ex-Four-Horseman Sleepy James Crowley.

Joe Smallwood, the ex-middleweight from Delaware and Lancaster, is bodyguarding for Boris (Frankenstein) Karloff in Hollywood. . . . He's in Karloff's latest movie, but you'd never know it—does the offstage bird imitation.

LAST-QUARTER GOAL —By Alan Klein



Favor Badgers Over Gophers

Share of Big Ten Title at Stake Saturday.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Perpetuating the longest football rivalry in the western conference, Wisconsin and Minnesota play for the 48th time in Madison Saturday.

The series began on Nov. 15, 1890, and when the Badgers arrived in Minneapolis wearing top hats, the Gophers were so annoyed they shellacked the invaders, 63 to 0.

A share of the Big Ten championship will be the stake when the game starts in Camp Randall. Wisconsin, beaten only by Purdue in the conference and flushed with recent conquests, envisions its first title since 1912.

Minnesota a slow, tired team, defeated by Northwestern and more recently battered by Notre Dame, comes to Madison the under dog. That will be a strange situation for the Gophers, who have beaten Wisconsin five games on end and 27 since the series began.

The Gophers hope to rally their traditional power to win this traditional game, for victory will enable them to share again in the conference championship they have held three of the last four seasons.

RAMS REDUCE ROSTER AS THEY HEAD WEST

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Cleveland Rams Tuesday cut three players from their roster as Coach Art Lewis and President Tom Lipscomb moved to shake the squad out of a three-game losing streak. Players cut were Nelson Peterson, 170-pound halfback and the team's leading scorer; Ralph Miller, 220-pound tackle and a veteran of two years with the Rams, and Dick Tuckey, halfback recently acquired from the Washington Redskins.

The Rams leave today for Los Angeles, where they play an exhibition game Sunday

Bantams Play Harris Paints Friday Night

Face Strong Wooster 11 Under Orrville Bulbs.

Clyde Adams' bantamweight football players face two tough assignments in three days over the week-end.

Announcement was made today by Business Manager Alex Hamilton that the Bantams will meet the Wooster Harris Paints in Orrville Friday night.

Sunday the Coach Harry Dankakis' team meets the South Akron Merchants in a benefit game for Michael Ondov, an accident victim recovering in General hospital, at the Fairground at 2:30 p. m. Tickets for this game are now being sold by the Bantams for 25 cents.

The Mansfield club faces one of the strongest midget teams in the state in Orrville. The Paints defeated the Akron DeLuca Bismarcks, 20 to 0, last Sunday. The Bismarcks won over the Mansfield eleven, 25 to 0, earlier this season.

The Orrville game is being staged as a benefit by the Orrville Mothers' club.

SUNDAY GRID PLAYERS DISMISSED FROM SQUAD

NEW YORK—(INS)—Five Manhattan college football players today were barred forever from representing that institution in intercollegiate competition because they played in outside gridiron battles on Sundays.

The quintet consisted of four varsity players, none of them usually appeared in Manhattan's starting lineup, and a freshman. Although relieved of their uniforms and dismissed from the squad, the five were not expelled from school.

TUBBS REPORTED DUE TO LEAVE HAWKEYES

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(UP)—The University of Iowa board declined today to give any indication of the status of head football Coach Irl Tubbs. The campus has been rife with rumors for several weeks that he will be replaced by a "Big Name" coach at the end of the season.

The board held a five-hour secret meeting last night and announced after adjournment that it will issue a statement within 10 days on Iowa's football muddle.

Coals, Misfits End Squabble; Play at League Park Sunday

KALLMERTEN and Baer's semi-pro gridmen will meet Brownie's Misfits at League park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The game was definitely scheduled late yesterday at a conference between Business Manager John Villella of the Coals and Ted (Brownie) Brown of the Misfits after several days of squabbling over the contract.

Villella first insisted that the Coals would not play if George Hummel and Tony Schadek, two former Kallmerten and Baer linemen played with the Misfits. The Misfits countered with a refusal to play unless the two players were eligible.

This matter was cleared up yesterday, Villella stated, and Hummel and Schadek will be permitted to wear the livery of the Misfits. Other details, including a "winner-take-all" agreement, are completed.

Considerable attention has been attracted by the game, which will send Mansfield's only semi-pro representative this fall against the Misfits, who will consist of former players well-known in the city.

It should draw the largest crowd to witness a semi-pro game in the city this season.

RESERVE BAND TO MARCH AFTER SEMI-SITDOWN

CLEVELAND — (AP) — When "fight on reserve" rings out over the gridiron here on turkey day the Western Reseve University band will be on the march again, all smiles between toots, because victory was theirs today in their semi-sit-down strike. College officials and faculty members assured the band a regular practice field and other concessions after the musicians refused to budge from their seats at last Saturday's game. They did play a few tunes, however.

Hillbilly Mat Star, Pet Coon To Appear At Armory Friday

LEM STECKLIN, nationally-famed "hillbilly" wrestler from Smokemont, Tenn., will meet Bill "Indian Ike" Cazzell of Laredo, Tex., in one of two top wrestling matches to be offered in the Armory on Friday night.

Officials of the Quality Club announced today that the Stecklin—Cazzell affair will share feature billing with the match already scheduled between Gordon Arquette of Yakima, Wash., and Frank Remille of Portland, Ore.

Stecklin is one of the most amazing figures on the American wrestling pad today. Wrestling in overalls, the rustic backwoodsman has stunned mat critics with his powerful mat style. Lem wrestles with the "moral" backing of a pet coon, which sits on the ropes in Stecklin's corner.

Cazzell, who will oppose Stecklin in the two-out-of-three-fall bout, is a half-breed Indian, and one of the most rugged battlers in the division. His keynote is speed and he augments this characteristic by a flashing mat style which includes a strong, two-fisted offensive.

Friday's program opens at 8:30, with popular prices in effect. It will be the first professional wrestling card offered here since last June.

Complete Sellout Looms For Ohio-Michigan Tilt

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Ohio State-Michigan football game Saturday will probably be a complete sellout, the university athletic office said today, but announced several thousand "fairly good" seats were still available.

The stadium will comfortably seat about 75,000 persons although more have been crowded into the huge double-decked horseshoe.

Pitt Freshmen Balk at Paying Tuition Fees

PITTSBURGH—(AP)— Members of the University of Pittsburgh's freshmen football squad were assured today a misunderstanding regarding tuition fees would be threshed out "satisfactorily."

The players reported for practice as usual after John Weber, the university's secretary-business manager, promised he would investigate and that he hoped to "find a suitable solution at a conference after the Thanksgiving recess."

Weber said a group of athletes, one a basketball player and the others football men, came to him yesterday and told of receiving tuition bills for the first semester amounting to $150.

"They thought they possessed athletic scholarships which took care of their tuition. Under the new athletic code at Pitt there are no athletic scholarships," Weber said.

Some of the athletes, he continued, "talked about quitting school, but I advised returning to their classes and continuing at sports. I believe the entire matter will be threshed out satisfactorily."

Spokesmen for the athletes said they had signed notes for the tuition but were under the impression the signing was a technicality and that the athletic department would not press for payment.

Sopohomore athletes do not pay tuition because they received athletic scholarships before the present code became effective last February, Weber said.

Wolves Strong Defensively, Too

Columbus Assumes Slightly Biased Viewpoint Toward Game Scheduled In Ohio State Stadium.

By RUSSELL FULLER

COLUMBUS—(INS)—On the ebbtide of another football season today flowed fine old pigskin memories which have emerged from heated Ohio State-Michigan battles of past years.

While the pros and cons of the merits of former Scarlet and Gray and Wolverines tussles were flung back and forth by a populace that has geared itself to reach a stage of near hysteria Saturday, the two elevens themselves dug in hard preparing for their 34th meeting.

The pre-game interest, revolving around both past and future Ohio State and Michigan tilts, was all part of an unexplainable frenziness that comes to Columbus every second year when Michigan provides the homecoming week-end attraction.

The capital city has assumed a slightly biased viewpoint which verges on the downright declaration that the boys from Ann Arbor do not have much of a chance because the Bucks have finally found themselves.

Both Are Sophomores.

Whether it is a case of finding the ticket after the show is over remains to be seen but Michigan has a couple of backfield men who plan to offer an interesting exhibition in colorful Ohio stadium. Both are sophomores.

First comes young Tom Harmon, a hard-hitting, slashing 194-pound halfback who blocks viciously and runs like the wind.

Harmon, mentioned frequently for All-American honors, has been the sparkplug in the Wolverines' sudden return to prestige in the football world.

Time and again he has yanked the Wolverines from tough spots with thrilling jaunts down the turf. His defensive work has been not only noteworthy but spectacular.

An Ohio boy who went north, Paul Kromer, of Lorain, is a triple threat man who ranks almost on a par with Harmon.

Kromer has proven particularly dangerous on powerful, ripping line plunges when two or three yards mean a first down or a touchdown.

Those two lads provide the fire that has burned out the hearts of so many Michigan opponents this year. It is that capable duo which constitutes the biggest menace to Ohio's hopes of victory and a possible Big Ten championship.

Michigan, all season, has relied on no one particular form of attack. At times the Ann Arborites have come forth with relentless power attacks calculated to stun rivals into submission; other times the Wolverines have seemingly filled the air with well aimed passes which had touchdown written all over them.

So Ohio will be stacked up against a versatile and dangerous offense as well as a stone-wall defense.

Ohio May Open Up.

Ohio, because of the success of razzle-dazzle against Illinois, will probably use a wide open offense as it attempts to trounce the visitors for the fifth consecutive year.

Jimmy Strausbaugh and Jimmy Langhurst, the fleet footed sophomores who play at halfback and fullback, will undoubtedly feature the Buck scoring drives.

The whole game will be a case of sophomore backs dominating the play; also a case of a slightly disarranged city if Michigan happens to win.

NEW YORK—Joey Fontana, 131, New York, outpointed Vince Dell Orto, 127¼, Italy, (8).

Near End Of Season

Ohio Teams Involved in Only 10 Games This Week-End; Five Turkey Day.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A dozen Ohio college grid teams wind up their 1938 campaigns this week-end in an abbreviated but potentially thrill-packed 10-game program, leaving only nine squads to carry on in the Thanksgiving day grand finale.

Wooster, John Carroll, Denison, Ohio University, Muskingum, Ohio State, Akron, Mount Union, Oberlin, Baldwin Wallace, Youngstown and Heidelberg will put their moleskins in the lockers after this week's frays, joining 15 teams which closed their seasons last week-end.

In addition to the five Thanksgiving day frays in which the nine remaining squads participate, two teams will continue play through Dec. 3. On that date Wilberforce goes to Orlando, Fla., for a crack at the Florida A. & M. college of Tallahassee, while Toledo's Rockets travel to San Antonio, Tex., to meet St. Marys.

Topping Saturday's bill of fare are two really "top" games. The first brings Michigan's rampaging Wolverines to Ohio State's stadium for a Big Ten tilt with the Bucks, and Coach Francis A. Schmidt's crew must turn in an upset win if it expects to share in the western conference title.

The other calls for Marshall to invade Athens for a Buckeye loop lash with the Ohio U. Bobcats.

For Morning-After HEADACHE

Better listen to this wise little bird, if you are suffering from morning-after headache. He's right when he recommends Capudine. Liquid Capudine quickly and gently relieves morning-after headache, it soothes and relaxes tense, high-strung nerves. Reduces that "big head" to its normal size in no time. All drug stores in 30c and 60c bottles, and by the dose at drug store fountains.

CAPUDINE

Shelby Boy

ATHENS—Playing his last game for Ohio university, Paul Wilcox, above, veteran end from Shelby, is expected to be one of Ohio U's biggest guns against Marshall Saturday in the Buckeye conference championship game. Paul has, for the last two years, been the chief receiver of Johnny Montgomery's bullet-like passes, This season, the Shelby veteran has scored four times on passes from Montgomery.

Montgomery and Wilcox form one of the greatest passing teams in the history of the Buckeye conference. Wilcox's unbelievable catches of long tosses have been a feature of every Ohio U. tilt this season. An All-Buckeye choice last season, Paul is a likely choice for All-Ohio honors this season.

TALK OF RACE BETWEEN GREYHOUND, BILLY DIRECT

NEW YORK—(AP)—It turns out that the horse racing championship of the United States was not entirely settled when Seabiscuit ran the hide off War Admiral the other day at Pimlico. To be precise, it was only half settled.

There are a million or so harness racing fans who won't get excited until there is a squaring off between Greyhound (1:55¼), the champion trotter, and Billy Direct (1:55), king of the pacers. Each horse holds the world record for his class.

Massillon- Canton Game Heads Ohio Program

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Four teams fell out of Ohio's list of unbeaten-untied high school grid squads over the week-end, but 10 others rode on today without a blemish on their records. They alone of the approximately 450 teams in the field had escaped the series of upstes in the scholastic ranks this season.

Still at the peak was Massillon's Powerhouse, winner of the state crown the last three years. The Tigers, with nine straight wins—the latest a 26-13 conquest of Youngstown Chaney—had scored 290 points while holding the foe to 60.

How long Massillon could stay up there was problematical, for the Tigers run into Canton McKinley Saturday afternoon. The Bulldogs, who have scored 256 points and allowed 50 in winning eight in a row, and boasting in big Marion Motley one of the state's finest triple-threat stars, are rated even with Massillon's well-balanced crew.

Undoubtedly the state laurels will go to the winner of the big classic, and a glance at comparative scores against common foes shows how closely they are matched. Here they are:

Canton McKinley 48, Canton Lehman 6; Massillon 52; Canton Lehman 0.

Canton McKinley 32, Steubenville 0; Massillon 31, Steubenville 0.

Canton McKinley 32, Mansfield 0; Massillon 33; Mansfield 7.

Canton McKinley 33, Alliance 26; Massillon 19, Alliance 6.

The Bulldogs will pit their powerful running attack and Motley's pitches to end Nick Roman, against Massillon's all-around speed, deception and brilliant aerial offense. Capt. Vince (Red) Snyder, Massillon leader, is expected to spearhead the Tiger offense.

The game, expected to attract 20,000 fans, marks the fifth straight year in which one or both of the ancient rivals have entered the fray unbeaten and untied.

THEATERS

"MEN WITH WINGS," as released, will be considerably different from the story originally planned. Fear of censorship forced producers to "cut" the scene showing the adventure-seeking aviator being shot down in Spain, and the recent war scare changed the ending which was to have shown the manufacturers of the big bombers deciding to build instead such big commercial ships that Berlin would be only a few hours from New York. It was decided that idea wasn't so good—in view of the fact that Berlin is close enough. The story covers an epoch in aviation history—from the time of the Wright brothers to the big bombers of today.

Dick In New Role.

Dick Powell, Warner Brothers star, is neither a college boy nor a uniformed cadet in his new picture, "Hard To Get." It is his first picture since he went on a one man strike for better stories, and shows Dick as a steel riveter, with Olivia de Havilland as the girl who is "hard to get." There are only two songs in it and Powell sings them. Allen Jenkins, Charles Winninger and Bonita Granville are in the cast. It opens att he Ohio Thursday for two days.

Price Makes Film Debut.

Constance Bennett, who is making a comeback to the screen, is starred in Universal's picture "Service DeLuxe," a comedy. Many regard Miss Bennett as better suited to comedy than dramatic roles. She has brilliant support in Charlie Ruggles, Helen Broderick, Mischa Auer and Vincent Price. Price is the handsome young actor who played Prince Albert opposite Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina." The picture is current at the Madison.

Reversible Villain.

Brian Donlevy, who began his screen career as a villain is the hero of "Sharpshooters," an action picture of the camera daredevils, and does a very good job of it, being as convincing a hero as a villain. "Ebb Tide," a dramatic film version of the Stevenson novel is the second feature at the Majestic. Frances Farmer, Ray Milland and Oscar Homolka are in this sea story.

Eternal Triangle.

Two dramatic pictures open at the Ritz today, one a jungle picture and the other revolving around the "eternal triangle." Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland in "The Jungle Princess" is the story of a beautiful white girl in the jungles. The second feature is Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall in "Always Goodbye."

Mansfield In the Movies.

The motion pictures of Mansfield which were made here during the past month, will be a feature at the Park theater for the last three days of the week starting Thursday. Scenes include the high school football team in action, the fire department, civic clubs, city heads and various industries in the city. Edward G. Robinson in "The Whole Town's Talking" and a March of Time issue round out the bill.

Rita Rio, All-Girl Orchestra Heads Revue At Madison

Rita Rio, the "streamlined mistress of melody", who came into prominence several years ago when she was featured with Eddie Cantor in his picture "Strike Me Pink", will be a Madison theater attraction Friday and Saturday of this week.

The Latin beauty brings her own all-girl orchestra from the NBC air lanes and a revue that is made up of acts from the screen and stage. The revue scored a hit on its recent transcontinental tour at the Northwest Radio show in Minneapolis, the Aragon and Trianon ballrooms in Chicago and the Million Dollar Pier in Atlantic City.

Rita Rio was recently featured on the cover of "Look" magazine and the publication devoted pages to the steps of a new dance she has created.

In her revue are Yorke and Tracy, comedy favorites, Betty Lee and her xylophone, and the Marvel Duo of dance which has just finished an engagement at the Chez Paree in Chicago. Bill Furrow, who was a sheep killer in a Des Moines packing house before Rita Rio discovered him, is the star's dancing partner for her dance numbers.

STEEL, AVIATION SHARES REFLECT U. S. ARMS MOVE

Gains Range From One to Around Two Points Near Second Hour.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steel and aviation shares kicked up their heels in an otherwise sedate stock market today.

Administrative plans for accelerating American defense expenditures were emphasized in brokerage circles. Gains near the second hour ranged from 1 to around 2 points in such arms favorites as Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Consolidated Aircraft and Sperry. Wright Aero jumped 6 in a thin market.

Bonds pointed upward for the most part. Major commodities held in a narrow range.

Strength in steel scrap prices lately drew comment from financial circles as indicating strong underlying expansion tendencies in that industry.

The "Iron Age" said a large backlog of orders for sheets and strip would enable "nearly all mills" to maintain their present operating rates to the end of the year.

"If the moderate expansion of orders in other lines continues," it added, "even higher operations may be looked for this month or next."

Consumption of electricity last week for the second time topped the comparable 1937 figure.

FASCISM GETS 'STOP SIGNAL'

Roosevelt Invites Republics to Join Defense Program, Hits Nazi Acts.

The Monroe doctrine might even be expanded to forbid not only foreign acquisition of territory but the ideological penetration of the 21 American republics, a sort of sanitary cordon or deadline across which fascist ideas would not be permitted to cross.

World events and scientific advancement, particularly development of the airplane, in the waging of war made the new "continental defense" policy necessary, Mr. Roosevelt said. Those adverse world events included developments in Germany.

"The news of the past few days from Germany," Mr. Rosevelt said, "has deeply shocked public opinion in the United States. Such news from any part of the world would inevitably produce a similar profound reaction among American people in every part of the nation.

"I myself could scarcely believe that such things could occur in a 20th century civilization.

"With a view to gaining a first-hand picture of the situation in Germany I asked the secretary of state to order our ambassador in Berlin to return at once for report and consultation."

Roosevelt's Call Received Cautiously.

BUENOS AIRES—(U.P.)—South American nations greeted President Roosevelt's call for a common defense front in the western hemisphere with a friendly but cautious interest today.

Smaller nations were expected to warmly approve his proposal but the larger powers qualified their friendly reception.

An attitude of restraint was evidenced in the desire of many officials for "further time to study" the suggestion and a flat stand by the Argentine Republic against any formal defense treaty.

"Argentina has always felt solidarity with other American nations in the matter of defense," Foreign Minister Jose Maria Cantilo told the United Press, "but any question of concluding acts there anent is out of the question at present.

"When any situation in connection with joint defense must be met, Argentina will take the necessary steps."

The Chilean Foreign Minister Luis Arteaga said he could not comment until he had studied Mr. Roosevelt's proposal, while his predecessor, Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, said he was pleased with it, and declared Chile had "faith in the fairness of his policies."

In Mexico, the absence of President Lazaro Cardenas from the capital made it impossible to immediately ascertain his reaction, but Vincente Lombardo Toledano, chairman of the powerful Mexican Workers confederation, expressed satisfaction.

GALION COUNCIL ADOPTS BUDGET FOR '39 FUNDS

Sewage Plant, City Building Projects Leave Levy Rate For City Unchanged.

GALION—Improvement of the city disposal plant and the construction of a new city building did not raise the city tax rate, it was noted last night at the regular meeting of city council when a resolution was passed accepting the amounts and rates as determined by the budget commission and authorizing the necessary tax levies and certifying them to the county auditor.

The bond retirement rate will be .90 outside the 10 mill limit, and the general fund rate is 3.80 inside the 10 mill limit.

Council passed a supplemental appropriation ordinance to make additional appropriation of $30,000 from the electric light fund to the electric light improvement fund for current expenses and additional contracts entered into by the city for the electric light plant improvements.

Legislation Ordered.

Preparation of legislation was ordered for improvement of certain sections of Second avenue, South street, East and Charles streets, by constructing sanitary sewers on these streets.

By passing a resolution council declared it necessary to construct sanitary sewers on certain sections of the following streets: Walnut, Murray, South Pierce, South Riblet, Wood, and Pershing avenue.

The city auditor was authorized to transfer a number ofunexpended balances from one appropriation item to certain other appropriation items by a resolution passed.

It was reported by H. L. Volk, chairman of the street and sewer committee, that the petition presented at the last meeting which asked for sanitary and storm sewers to be constructed on Railroad street, did not have enough signers.

ASHLAND OPENS FUND CAMPAIGN

150 Volunteers Start Canvass Of City In Drive to Reach $26,000 Quota.

ASHLAND — Determined to reach the goal of $26,000, nearly 150 volunteer workers began solicitations in the city as Ashland's tenth annual Community Chest Drive opened Tuesday.

Not since solicitations for social and welfare organizations of the city have been combined into one drive ten years ago has a drive failed to "go over the top."

A general meeting for workers was held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. During the meeting, H. M. Clark, chairman of the Board of Governors, briefly explained the type of work carried on by the character building organizations who share in the Chest Fund in order that workers might be able to answer questions of those being solicited.

Chairman of the drive, J. Howard Culler reviewed a few of his experiences while working in previous Community Chest campaigns and urged the workers to complete solicitations as soon as possible. The drive is scheduled to continue until Nov. 22.

Sharing in the Community Chest again this year are nine organizations which provide programs for aiding the less fortunate individuals of the city. They are the Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Ashland Senior Federation, Associated Charities, Junior Federation, Samaritan hospital, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Business and Professional Women's club. A small amount of the Chest Fund goes to upkeep of the Chest headquarters. The chairman of the drive and all solicitors volunteer their services for the drive and receive no renumeration for the work.

CONTAGION UP 150 PER CENT DURING OCTOBER

85 Cases Reported In City Last Month As Compared With 32 In September.

Contagious diseases in Mansfield during October soared more than 150 per cent over the previous month, the monthly report of Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, showed today. In all 85 cases were recorded last month as compared with 32 in September.

The largest increase was shown in chickenpox where 27 cases were reported in October against none for the previous month. A marked increase in mumps was recorded with 19 cases listed while only one case was listed during September.

Scarlet Fever Second.

Scarlet fever showed a 150 per cent increase with 18 cases reported over the seven listed for the previous month.

The report also listed six cases of whooping cough, three cases each of pneumonia and measles, one case of meningitis and eight venereal cases.

Dr. Rehder explained that the increase, which he termed as seasonal as the result of closer contacts among children, was not alarming and was a little below the average in past years.

Deaths and births both showed a marked increase during the month. Seventy births were recorded during October while 46 deaths were listed.

During the month health department nurses made 1,967 daily classroom inspections of pupils in connection with the department's communicable disease control program in the city schools. This is nearly three times the 665 pupils examined in September.

POOR MARKSMEN

Hunters In Michigan Fail To Cut Down Deer Supply.

LANSING, Mich.,— (INS) —Although Michigan's deer population has doubled in the past four years, the yearly kill by hunters has not varied by two per cent. H. D. Ruhl, head of the Game Division of the State Conservation Department, said poor marksmanship among the nimrods was responsible for the failure of the kill rate to keep apace with the birth rate.

Some of the dust particles in the air are very important as they form nuclei on which water vapor condenses when air is cooled sufficiently and without which there could be no clouds or rain.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew pencils—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick—it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

MANSFIELD'S Gone Hollywood!

THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING! You're in the Movies now. Weeks and weeks in the making—Mansfield's progress will be flashed on the silver screen at the PARK THEATER for three days only—Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Don't miss this spectacle. Perhaps you are part of this feature. It's your one opportunity to see how you look in the MOVIES.

MOVIES of Mansfield's Schools, Football Games, Parks, Industries, Streets, City Officials, Prominent Citizens, Merchants, in fact, the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker all in one full length feature of what goes on in Mansfield.

Speedy Cafeteria Service

Cafeteria style eating. Very interesting shots showing how Mansfield's diners enjoy this method of selecting the things they like at the Evergreens

Mets Auto Supply Shows Its Many Services

The camera man found his way around at Mets' Auto Supply to take movies of the various departments. Complete views of the machine shop stock rooms and sales department will give Mansfielders an idea of completeness and compactness of one of our citie's leading automotive and household supply houses Leon Metcalf says, "we like to show the public that we are equipped to serve them.

Matthes Shows The Season Skipper

You'll see what Matthes Clothing has in store for the Xmas shopper—And you'll see another happy Mansfielder selecting one of the new coat sensations of a century, the "Season Skipper."—Two coats in one—It's a snappy Top Coat with removable lining by reason of a zipper

Freeman Stoker Demonstration

Henry R. Pataky demonstrates the fine points of the Freeman Stoker. Only recently appointed dealer for the Freeman Stoker, Mr. Pataky has installed many units of this kind in Mansfield. Years of experience in the heating industry covering all phases, including cleaning and installation of Hot Air Furnaces also repairing is the reason for his rapid success.

Mansfield 10 Years Ago

Movies of the crowds that attended the opening of the Park theater will be shown at this time. "Mansfield ten years ago" will be included in this feature of today. Mr. T. J. Carroll of the National Film Productions Co., was reluctant to have many of the scenes of Mansfield that were taken 10 years ago These scenes will be included in this movie of Mansfield

Achievement In Memorial Designs

Much was learned about granite and marble in the filming of workings at the Mansfield Monument Co. Design and workmanship in the making of memorials offer great interest and many of the creations of the Mansfield Monument Co. rank high in this Mansfield industry.

Complete Floor Show on the Screen

The reason for bigger and better floor shows is here. Action movies of the floor show of a short time ago were taken at the Greystone Nite club. Those in the crowds that witnessed the taking of the picture now have an idea what goes on in Hollywood; lights, camera, action. There's always plenty of action at the Greystone, especially during the feature attraction of this week.

Demonstrates Blowout Proof Tire

Demonstrations of the new blowout proof Goodyear Tire that were made a short time ago and sponsored by the Buchan Auto Supply Co, will be shown on the screen. Scenes of a speeding car with passengers, deliberately blowing out its tires, without unfavorable results regarding damage to the car or uneasiness to the passengers.

Movies of a Coal Mine Interior

Actual movies of coal being mined by the newest process constitute the interesting feature of the coal industry taken of the Simon Small & Sons Co. The two popular brands of coal namely Carbon Splint and Golden Glow are featured. Mr. Rex Small of the Simon Small & Sons Co., states "these two brands of coal have proven themselves beyond our expectations in the manner of Mansfield's preference. It's ideal for stoker fuel and noted for its low ash content."

CHAPTER 47

Sunday afternoon Judy went to tea at her father's penthouse. Sarita had telephoned inviting her. Ordinarily she would have given an excuse. Today she wanted to go.

Brushing her hair, Judy admitted to the candid eyes in her dressing table mirror that she had a reason. Somebody might have news of Ronald and the law firm.

In the excitement of seeing him the night before, she had forgotten to ask him the outcome of his resignation. He had not offered the information. But of course the resignation would be rejected.

And yet—the proud old legal firm hated publicity. It did not deal with sensationalism. Its clients were solid, reputable houses with a dislike for notoriety.

The long drawing room at the penthouse had not changed. The tea table with its silver stood near the white fireplace. Sarita, in a red dress, sat on a white leather chair as she poured tea. All that was part of yesterday.

Judy felt strange and formal. Six months ago this was home. Her own room had been down the hall. She wondered how it looked with her possessions removed from it. She slipped away to the room.

Sarita had refurnished it, copying her bookshelves, tables, lamps, chairs, even the bed, as closely as possible. If her own prints had been there Judy could have believed she had stepped over the threshold to yesterday.

"Your father did it." Judy did not know Sarita had followed her until her stepmother spoke at her shoulder.

"My father?"

"He still believes that some day you will come home. When you do, he wants everything waiting for you just as it was."

"No one uses it now?" Judy asked.

"No one, my darling! It's your room."

Judy went to the chest of drawers, opened the top one.

"Why, Sarita!" she exclaimed. There were piles of cobwebby underthings in it.

Sarita smiled. "I did that, Judy. You'll need things, you know!"

Judy laughed, half provoked. "You're a pair of darlings and I love you both for it, but don't you believe I can take care of myself? I'm doing it—I'm saving money every week."

Yet she was touched. Her father did want her. He had not banned her in his heart or he would not have made ready for her when she would choose to return. Sarita was kind, too.

When Sarita and Judy returned to the drawing room they found more guests. Mr. Heaton and Mrs. Heaton were there. They greeted Judy warmly.

At the first opportunity she spoke to Mr. Heaton. "Have you seen Ronald?"

The man put down his tea cup. "No, I haven't, and I've been trying everywhere to reach him. Can you help me?"

"I saw him last night. If his apartment doesn't answer, I would not know where he is."

Around them voices rose, fell, punctuated with laughter. Life followed a casual pattern, gay and charming. It had returned to its former routine.

Yet Judy sat apart, having no interest in the scene except as the lawyer's words concerned Ronald.

"We didn't accept the boy's resignation," Mr. Heaton continued. "The young fool doesn't know it. Can't reach him to tell him so." The attorney chuckled. "I've sent him two telegrams—no reply to either of them. I think I'll have to send out a search warrant so I can apologize and congratulate him."

"Mr. Heaton, you're splendid!" Judy exclaimed, not knowing her eyes were starry, her voice tremulous.

The lawyer patted her hand as he rose to move away. "The lad's real stuff, Judy. Stick to him."

When the girl looked into the lawyer's face, startled wonder on her own, the man sat down again.

"Ronald is dependable, Judy. Especially as husband material. I never would have known that it was his innate chivalry in helping Miss Boland that got him into this trouble of his own if I had depended on getting the reason from him. Mr. Boland explained to me. He's sorry about it all—but he thinks Ronald would be an asset as a son-in-law."

Judy nodded mutely.

"What do you think about Abbey and Ronald?" the man asked her almost sharply.

"I hope they'll be happy," Judy said, and wandered off to join the group by the tea table.

It was no use consoling herself with the erroneous idea that loyalty alone had held Ronald to Abbey. An engagement was an engagement, and while the glittering Abbey might not want Ronald as a husband, she would retain him as a fiance until she found another count, prince, duke, heir to a soap flakes fortune, or someone else with some kind of a publicity bid.

As for herself, she had her work. She would give her time to it, and become so successful that some day people would wear gowns by Judy Rogers. They would not be gowns designed merely for the debutantes and dowagers who wrote checks with careless hands. They would be simple, attractive, and in a price range low enough that Coralee and her friends could afford some of them.

She gave herself up to the dream, there in the firelight, scarcely knowing when someone asked her a question, and she embroidered the edge of the conversation with an unimportant word in answer.

Mr. Heaton, hat in hand, strolled back from the library.

"I located the young scallawag. He's on his way into town. Been out at the Bolands! Abbey wanted to stage some kind of shindig in celebration of the truth prevailing and I take it he walked out. But the party's still on the books. I'm going to his apartments to waylay him now."

Judy got her hat and coat and pocketbook, thanked her stepmother for the tea, and started home. She decided to walk for awhile. Fifth avenue was cold and bare and the clothes for the Florida resorts and cruises to Bermuda had been removed from the windows of the shops. Some were presenting the more sedate things for early spring. Other windows were covered with canvas or silken curtains while the artists prepared them. A raw wind was blowing. She hailed a taxicab and leaned against the slippery leather cushions while it raced down Fifth avenue, green lights with it.

Marjorie was gone. Craig had been gone a long time. Now Ronald was going. That was life.

She must remember that all that mattered was to build your own life securely, on a firm basis of accomplishment. Then winds might blow, waters rise floods come, and lesser houses go to sea, but you would stand, strong as a citadel on a rocky hill.

Work—it stayed by you. But could it comfort you forever and forever?

She sat up and dabbed at her eyes with a scrap of lace.

"Judy Rogers, snap out of it! You don't want a man who doesn't want you! You don't want anyone! You've been so afraid of marriage. Don't be forgetting!"

She turned the radio low in her apartment, and piled wood on the fire while a swing band, far away, gathered its music and sent it over the world. She had discarded program after program until she found something as impersonal as swing. Today she would be gay. Why were Sunday programs so fraught with sentiment?

She slipped into some velvet lounging pajamas that were the warm brown of her hair, and found their matching mules. She had not worn them for a long time. She turned on a lamp and sat down to read the Sunday papers.

At twelve o'clock Ronald had not called. She admitted to herself, then, that she had been waiting for his voice on the telephone or speaking through the tube above her doorbell ever since Mr. Heaton had telephoned the Boland estate and been told that Ronald was leaving.

She was an undulated, simple fool!

She repeated the words with more vehemence when she saw the morning newspapers. Was she always to get her news of Ronald from the press—always to catch her breath at his name leaping out in scarry black letters?

(To Be Continued)

PIANIST OPENS SECOND CIVIC MUSIC SEASON FRIDAY EVENING

The Mansfield Civic Music association's second season gets under way Friday night when Hortense Monath, brilliant American pianist, is presented at Senior high school auditorium in a program of Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert and Chopin.

Miss Monath is one of three artists who will be presented here during the season. On Jan. 31, Mansfield will have its first opportunity to hear Marian Anderson, one of the highest paid of all American concert artists, and on Feb. 23 Zimbalist, the violinist, will appear here.

Mansfield memberships in the Civic Music association also will permit attendance at the Rachmoninoff concert in Lima Jan. 13, and at the Ania Dorfman performance at Sandusky Nov. 21.

Miss Monath, member of a gifted musical family, and a student of Artur Schnabel in Berlin, has appeared on several occasions as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, and also with the Vienna Philharmonic and the Hamburg Philharmonic groups.

She made her debut in Hamburg and followed with concerts in Rome, Florence, Bologne, Milan and other European music centers.

The concert is open only to members of the association from Mansfield and other Ohio cities.

STINGLESS BEES HAVE ALL DIED

London's Cold Weather Kills Zoo's Rare Exhibit.

LONDON—(AP)—The stingless bees presented to the Zoological Gardens by the Southern Rhodesian government are all dead.

It is believed the cold weather killed them.

The first stingless bees ever brought to Europe alive travelled 8,000 miles by air in part of a tree trunk that was their natural home.

Seasonings are important in stew and it is best to have a variety with no one too much in evidence. Herbs, parsley, celery, grated carrots and onions can be used alone or in combination.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

"We're Using Gas As The Fuel and At Cooking School"

why

It's Clean . . .

Speediest on Record . .

Numberless Shades of Temperatures . .

Modernly Convenient . .

Greater Freedom . . .

Miss Chambers Says:

"We're using gas as the fuel for both cooking and refrigeration at The Mansfield News-Journal's Cooking School. I'm enthusiastic about the many features of the new gas ranges and thoroughly sold on the advantages of the gas refrigerator. For long life, trouble-free service and silent, economical operation you can't beat it."

MISS RUTH CHAMBERS
LECTURER

Gas gets the call for cooking schools year after year because of two important reasons. First, gas service and gas appliances are always a step ahead in modern developments. Gas is a modern fuel, keyed to the times in convenience and in economy. Second, gas as a kitchen fuel is the overwhelming favorite of American homemakers. It is only natural that the newest and best in cookery should be accomplished by the most modern, and the most popular kitchen fuel.

You'll Hear About It— But Never Hear It!

When you attend The News-Journal Cooking School, you'll see the famous Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator demonstrated. See it, yes, but you'll never hear it, because a gas refrigerator is completely and permanently silent. A tiny gas flame does all the work and there are no moving parts in the freezing system to wear out. Gas refrigeration is the most economical of all modern methods, costing less than 2 cents a day to operate in Mansfield. After attending the cooking school be sure to visit The Gas Company and find out more about the refrigerator you hear about—but never hear.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1938.

Be careful not to let Thanksgiving creep up on you unexpectedly—it's time to be thinking of things for which to be thankful.

Not long ago Mr. Farley expressed a wish for two strong political parties—not thinking that his wish would be granted so quickly.

For the benefit of folks disturbed by the recent radio invasion from Mars, it may be stated that the Popeye "de-mings" aren't real.

Labor's Division Hurts Workers.

ALMOST immediately following an appeal by President Roosevelt for restoration of peace in the ranks of organized labor, the CIO, assembled in convention in Pittsburgh, adopted a committee report which seems to close the door to any further attempts to unify the two labor groups in the near future.

The A. F. of L., on the contrary, has shown an inclination to seek peaceful adjudication of differences, except in the matter of absorbing communistic agitators into its organization.

It was pointed out by President Roosevelt, in his message to the CIO convention: "If the great gains already made are to be consolidated, for the benefit of workers as well as management, it is essential that there be co-operation among the wage-earning groups. . . . Continued dissension can only lead to the loss of influence and prestige to all labor . . ."

Speaking before a Mansfield audience yesterday, Miss Clara Green, daughter of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said: "My father regrets, more than anything else in the world, the division that exists in the labor movement."

Without attempt to analyze the causes of the present rift, there can be no doubt that a great disservice to the cause of American workers is being performed by labor leaders who are responsible for this condition, and that continuance of gains thus far made for the betterment of labor groups cannot be expected until peace is restored in labor organizations and un-American, anti-social influences removed from governing positions therein.

It is unfortunate for the nation as a whole, but more particularly for the workers directly involved, that peace in the ranks of labor seems further removed by the action taken in Pittsburgh yesterday.

It cannot be escaped that this peace must eventually come. Why might not scund counsel prevail in making it come soon?

'Musts' for Traffic Safety.

JULIEN H. HARVEY, managing director of the National Conservation Bureau, lists six vital "musts" for the solution of America's Number 1 accident problem—the street and highway death and injury toll.

First, all drivers must be licensed, and only after stringent tests.

Second, real, not perfunctory physical examinations of drivers at periodic intervals is important.

Third, all high school students should be educated in safe driving, through specially devised courses.

Fourth, there must be more stringent enforcement of laws affecting both drivers and pedestrians by the police and traffic courts.

Fifth, ticket fixing must be 100 per cent eliminated.

Lastly, all safety organizations should give their primary effort toward discouraging the speed mania—principal cause of the bulk of serious accidents.

These "musts" provide a well-rounded traffic safety program, within the power of any state or community to meet. They touch the all-important high-spots—education, examination and law enforcement. They deal with specific cures—not meaningless generalities, and represent the only kind of program which has a chance for permanent success.

Evidence of Independent Voting.

NOW that the official count of election results in all six counties of the Seventeenth congressional district is available, independent thinking on the part of voters in this district becomes apparent.

Few may have considered, for instance, that while these six counties (Ashland, Coshocton, Delaware, Knox, Licking and Richland) re-elected Congressman William A. Ashbrook, Democrat, by a majority of 5,445, these same counties gave Bricker, Republican, a majority of 10,635, and Taft, Republican, a majority of 15,423.

Turning a Republican majority of more than 15,000 into a Democratic majority above 5,000, as was done by Congressman Ashbrook, necessitated a change of more than ten thousand supporters of Taft on one ticket to support of Ashbrook on the other.

In addition to giving proof that a large percentage of voters are competent to vote a split ticket, such an outcome cannot be regarded as other than a high compliment to Congressman Ashbrook, as well as an expression of recognition of the capable service he has performed as representative of this district in congress.

Japanese Pledges.

AS THE Chinese, in a surprising reversal of spirit in southern China, started a drive to regain Canton. Foreign Minister Arita of Japan declared that Japan supports the American doctrine of the "open door" and equal opportunity for all nations in China—provided:

That the powers will recognize Japan's dominant interest in eastern Asia and the fact that Japan is the dominant power in that part of the world.

That in the interest of world peace, and prosperity, Japan expects the powers to co-operate with her proposed Japan-China-Manchoukuo block of countries, which will guarantee "stability and improvement of opportunity for all in East Asia."

What Britain and other powers will do about that proposal, Americans do not know. But knowing that the Japanese government has already broken its pledges of free opportunity in Manchoukuo and its guaranty of the integrity of China, these new promises can hardly be taken at face value.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Election returns indicate that the country can take a turn to Roosevelt liberalism or modified Republican conservatism by a shift of five or ten per cent of the vote.

Statisticians have computed before this that a five per cent switch of votes to the Republican side in 1936 in certain key states would have reduced Roosevelt's overwhelming electoral vote very sharply while a switch of ten percent in other key sections would have defeated him.

Now the switch of five or ten per cent of the vote in certain of those fairly-well-balanced sectors has given the Republicans a resounding gain in the house and an emphatic and more important gain among the governorships. (Where party success is concerned, governorships are far more important than house or senate places.)

A New Deal Blow-Out.

IN THE house, both Democrats and Republicans alike who had held their places since pre-New Deal days—before 1932—survived the present election with scarcely an exception. The Democrats elected in the tide of 1932, 1934 and 1936 were the ones blown out of office in 1938.

All of which means that in spite of temporary losses the two parties are pretty well bedrocked, each in its own balliwick. Wise politicians such as Postmaster General James A. Farley and Charles Michaelson, admiral of Democratic party publicity, said before the election that the major political battles would continue to be fought between Republicans and Democrats "at least through my time, and yours."

New Hopes for 1940.

ALSO, the Republican gains put a new value on the G.O.P. presidential nomination for 1940. Anybody who attended the 1936 Republican national convention could tell that the party considered its presidential nomination wasn't worth a dime then, except for a paragraph of history. But it will be a choicer piece of real estate next time.

And Here's Something Else.

AND that brings up another thing. From all appearances, President Roosevelt believes, and his friends and many critics alike agree, that his personal popularity still continues at a high level. Moreover, he remains determined to push his program, which is not entirely complete and still subject to revision or repeal by its foes.

Now comes a resurgence of Republicans and an increased proportion of independent Democrats remaining in congress because of the defeat of New Dealers, both hazards to his program. What may happen? There are many here ready to guess that if he saw likelihood—of election of a Republican president in 1940, or—of nomination of an anti-New Deal Democrat in 1940, or of election of an anti-New Deal congress in 1940—

He would give his personal popularity the test and run for a third term.

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C HILL

IN THE WORST of the madness and chaos of the World war, the Red Cross functioned. And in its smoking aftermath this world order of pity and healing fought disease, and clothed, fed and housed wretched and despairing multitudes in Central Europe and the Near East. It has been and is an arcanum of civilization, a repositor of whatever is humane and chivalrous in the heart of a war-torn world.

Could it function again, if there were another world war? Consider what is happening in Czechoslovakia, whose distress is not even a curtain raiser to the horror of a large-scale war. In the Zatec region, hundreds of Jewish people, including women and children are starving in ditches in the fields, desperate from cold and hunger. Ample food and clothing is rushed to the area by the British but it cannot reach them. And now, twenty years after we won the war to end war and to make the world safe for democracy, ponder this line of cold type under a Prague dateline:

"German and Czech guards bar food and water from them."

THERE has been no war there; no blasted countryside, no cruel devastation. The men, women and children dying in the ditches are the victims of merely peacetime hatred and stupidity. If this is peace, the peace of Munich, what cruel exactions of war could surpass it in its long hail down the old back road to utter barbarism?

One can get this into no sequence of reason or sanity, no matter how much he thinks about it. Here in America we know kindly and intelligent Czechs and Germans who would be as humane as any of us in assuaging misery or lifting the fallen. There are long centuries of Christian culture behind the authorities who gave order to withhold food and water from these desperate people. Can we believe that civilization does move forward through the centuries, that there is a life pattern of order and progress?

OUR mind is a new instrument which we got only yesterday and its governance of our emotions which we brought with us from the primaeval deeps of life gives, as yet only feeble guidance. Criminologists now assess much crime against emotional rather than mental disturbance.

In periods of great emotional stress, such as Europe has suffered in the last 25 years, history records innumerable deeds of cold, stupid, sadistic brutality committed by rational, and, in their personal relations, kindly men who were good husbands and fathers and neighbors. Cyclonic mass emotion plus congenital stupidity, wrecked more civilization than all the hurricanes, floods and all other elemental disasters put together. It is the fifth roseman of the Apocalypse and it could give odds and win against all the plagues of the Anglican litany.

THIS country is in a better spot to do some bedrock thinking about what's the matter with the world, than is any other nation. What is perhaps more important, it is free and footloose to do some Grade A thinking about its own status and its own outlook. Free, amateur, offhand thinking is pretty much out of season nearly everywhere else in the world. The universities have been strangled. In the authoritarian countris free press, free assemblage, free speech and suffrage are sunk without trace. In those in the twilight zone of resurgent feudalism, censorship already is snuffing out the light.

We still have light—plenty of it. We are the only country in the world in which the people may read and understand the history-making events of their day. A score or more of American correspondents in Europe are doing a job of keen, honest, faithful reporting which will long shine in the annals of their craft. Nothing like it is happening anywhere else, and it is to a degree unprecedented here.

We didn't do a great deal of thinking or interpreting in our "up and at 'em" mood of 1917 when the gonfalon of a noble phrase was quite enough to lure us to death, debt and disillusion.

Play kibitzer on a ferry boat or train, as I have done occasionally, and you will agree that we are beginning to think. It is our free press which is giving us this salutary skull-massage. If we must reach for the old squirrel gun, just to be in the mood and the mode of the day, let it be to defend our free press. It is bringing through in America an intellectual rearmament. We are beginning to think.

Top Hair Coming Down.

The shower bath swoop is coming down. The fashion of piling a lady's crowning glory in soft ringlets on her head is definitely skidding. No longer will be be necessary to have a hairdresser around to help milady remove her hat. The olden days of the long bob and windswept hair-do are here again.

The movies are said to be a contributing factor in the trend away from the top-heavy pile. Greta Garbo's arrival from Europe with a long bob, the refusal of Norma Shearer to continue wearing a long coiffure that conceals both ears were all bad news so far as hair stylists were concerned.

But the hectic battle to "put it up" was not without its ultimate benefit. Instead of the French "coiffure" the country now speaks of a hair dress as a "hair-do," a thoroughly American combination of words that expresses exactly what is meant much better than the imported word used since the Gibson girls first flashed on the American scene.—Fremont News-Messenger.

Health Advice

Lack of Appetite Often Serious.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

LACK OF APPETITE is called "anorexia" by the doctors. Only those who are afflicted by it realize how serious it may be. The happy optimist, who is always hungry and can't pass the icebox without a pang, may have some serious days ahead of him when his weight jumps up above 200, but at least he is happy and is having a good time.

The various grades of lack of appetite may range from a general lack of interest in food to a very serious disease called anorexia nervosa. Underweight people usually have small appetites and that is the cause of their underweight. There is a popular theory that underweight people are great hands at the table, but that is seldom the case. If the actual amount of food that underweights and overweights eat is weighed and measured, it will be found that the overweights are heavy because they eat too much and the undedweights are thin because they don't eat enough.

Anorexia Nervosa.

But the problem of the thin person who has no interest in food, but who manages to force down a little every meal, is as nothing to the cases—fortunately rare—of anorexia nervosa.

These people, usually adolesent girls with unstable emotional systems, have not only a want of desire for food, but a morbid aversion to eating. They are intelligent and highly sensitive, and some sort of emotional conflict usually starts them off. They literally hardly eat at all and finally become so thin and emaciated that they are in actual danger of death from starvation.

One such typical case was in a girl 15 years old. Suddenly her family noticed she ate or drank hardly anything. She went down in a few weeks from 75 pounds to almost 50. She said she didn't want to eat because she had pains in the stomach following the intake of food.

Revealed Nothing.

Examination, however, revealed nothing the matter with the stomach. There were some indications of disorder in the endocrine glands and a diagnosis of anorexia nervosa was made.

A long series of interviews revealed the situation that she did not like two sisters who lived at home and got on her nerves by teasing her. Her mother also worried her by fussing about her.

Such unfortunates must be treated partly by mental encouragement. She was persuaded to eat more and more food at each meal, and attendants talked her out of the idea that the food caused any abdominal distress.

At the same time, administration of some of the ductless glands, particularly thyroid extract, was helpful. She gradually gained her weight back, and even passed her original mark of 75 pounds. When in a few months both of her sisters got married and left home, she was completely cured.

The treatment and outcome are typical of many cases in which the diagnosis is often of organic disease, such as cancer or ulcer of the stomach.

A Farmer's Diary

Indian Summer.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT IS a warm November day. The wind blows from the south, so mild and balmy that it seems to search for all the delicate autumn bloom that perished long ago.

The sun came up, a faded red, and slowly moved through a heavy cloud of blue haze which curtained the border of the earth and sky. A light frost made light blotches alternating with spaces of green and drab, upon the eastern lawn.

Besides the woodpile, a hardy colony of hollyhocks still flaunt green leaves, and two of the tallest stalks proudly bear six cups of gay colored blossoms each, as beautiful and perfect as those of late summer. Each dawn I spend a few moments in this environment, admiring this floral challenge to the frost and icy winds.

The sun shines warm in the southern sky, dulled by late autumn haze. The hedges and the forests are bare and brown. The pale light glistens on the fallen leaves. The air has a sweet, pleasant tang. Wood smoke curls upward from the rural homes, like sweet incense.

Late in the afternoon, I saw frail silken ropes of spider webs, in horizontal lines, float through the air, like gossamers. They touched my face and wound about like a fairy net. Others, floating high, were only visible as silvered threads in the reflecting sunlight.

Down in the pasture, in late afternoon, the cattle lie chewing their cuds, or just lie contentedly, as though thinking long, large thoughts, or dreaming pleasantly. The sun goes down behind a growing cloud of haze, blood red, then paler, till it sinks from sight. Pale, gilded bands of pink adorn the sky.

A mother quail among the stubbles, calls her brood. The large owl darts from the woods, and swoops across the shadowy fields. The day is done. Soon the pale round moon will gleam upon the frosty silence.

Listen, World!

"Permit No. 517"—To Betray America.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU are about to read a circular, distributed in Berkeley, California, on Navy day.

Berkeley is a serene and beautiful city—seat of the state university, second largest college in America—beloved by generations of youngsters who therein received educations as the gift of their fellow citizens. An inspiring place—Berkeley—in these chaotic days.

A healing place for those who wish to retain their faith and loyalty in the world's greatest democracy. But a rather startling place to receive the following handbill which was written by University Students, but under the law, could not be circulated beyond the college gates.

"PERMIT NO. 517" regulates the distribution of all handbills in Berkeley. Under PERMIT No. 517, California's choicest young manhood and womanhood received the following "dodger" as they left Sather Gate—

TODAY IS NAVY DAY

HAVE YOU EVER STOPPED TO CONSIDER WHY WE HAVE A NAVY?

At present over two billion dollars is being spent to enlarge the navy? Besides this, millions upon millions of dollars are being spent upon an auxiliary merchant marine. At the same time legislation is being passed to regiment all seamen. The government has set up hiring halls and training ships for unlicensed seamen.

WHY ALL THESE ACTIVITIES? THE ANSWER IS PLAIN.

A two billion dollar navy plus the merchant marine plus regimentation of seamen EQUALS PREPARATION FOR WAR.

DEMONSTRATE AGAINST WAR ON ARMISTICE DAY AT SATHER GATE AT 11.

1. For a People's Vote on War.
2. Support the Oxford Pledge.
3. Withdraw All Troops From Abroad.
4. FOR INDEPENDENT WORKING CLASS ACTION AGAINST CAPITALISM.

(Fascist or Democratic).
Young People's Socialist League
(Fourth Internationaliste)
P. O. Box 488, Berkeley.
Permit 517.

Quite a document—yes? A particularly impressive document when one realizes that many of the courageous (?) young squirts who composed it are accumulating wisdom at the expense of hard working taxpayers who, in many cases, had little or no education themselves...yet gladly do unto others as was NOT done unto them, because such is the tall ideal of the land they love.

However, wroth as you may be, you cannot possibly appreciate the rare and peculiar quality of this document unles you understand the meaning of the "Oxford Pledge" (not to be confused with the Oxford movement). Briefly the history and meaning of the Oxford Peldge is this—

Disillusioned by the moral, industrial and economic slump which followed the late World war, a large number of young Oxford students—son of the first families of Britain—made a public vow that they would—"UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES, FIGHT FOR KING OR COUNTRY." By which they meant exactly what they said. They were not merely Pacifists—loathing the stupid butchery of war as all intelligent moderns must loathe it. They were 100 per cent Pacifists—which mean that they were fighting war completely, even though it meant abandoning their home to ruin—their women to rape—their nation to wholesale wreckage.

An impressive gesture! It was, however, interesting to note how quickly Young England backed down when the actual threat of battle recently loomed on the horizon. Like autumn leaves, the Oxford Pledges were fluttering down...and the flashing swords leaped high. Words were one thing—but heart beats were quite another. A man might forego an oath...but he couldn't turn against the pleading pride in his father's face...the frantic terror of his mother...or the call of his country, ground under the enemy's heel.

Young England spat on the Oxford Pledge when the Zero hour came. BUT THE YOUNG AMERICA OF TODAY TAKES UP THE YELLOW FLAG WHERE YOUNG ENGLAND LAID IT DOWN. And even while it feeds from the nation's hand—it spits in that nation's face!

And who's to blame? These ignorant, egotistical, spineless young pups? NO! YOU AND I ARE TO BLAME! WE, THE WISE, THE SUPPOSEDLY MATURE CITIZENS OF AMERICA ARE TO BLAME! WE, WHO CONDEMN COMMUNISM . . . AND DESPISE TREACHERY . . . ARE TO BLAME WHEN WE ISSUE "PERMIT 517" WHICH ALLOWS SUCH SNAKES TO DISTRIBUTE THEIR VENOM AT THE COLLEGE GATES . . . WE ARE TO BLAME!

WE—NOT THEY—ARE THE REAL TRAITORS TO AMERICA!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I wouldn't recommend Sixth avenue to everybody, but I think you'd like it. It's dirty, but it's different. It crawls in squalor all the way through midtown and then takes a sudden turn for the better and ends in elegance far up at Central park.

I like it because you can find practically anything you want, if it's of a picayunish, junkish nature—I mean old magazines, curios, back copies of foreign newspapers, Irish motion pictures—you get the idea.

There's a fiddler's shop where a man makes violins and bows. Next to him is a greasy spoon restaurant with breast-of-lamb luncheons for 20 cents and hash-with-egg for 15 cents. A few steps further is a cinema house featuring "The Rose of Tralee." You can find Kipling's novels in Spanish, and "art" magazines and cheap portraits of every description. The nudes really take over the place . . . "Nude Raking Autumn Leaves" . . . "Nude Drinking from Gourd" . . . "Nude Climbing a Picket Fence" . . . "Nude Tossing Pebbles Into a Stream."

MAGAZINES with strange foreign titles feature body lines of smartly uniformed German officers. Under a pile of dusty Greek newspapers I found our old friend Peter Arno—or rather one of his books. The man who tried to sell it to me also had a nice pearl stickpin which he would relinquish for only $6. Fortunately I didn't have $6.

He also had a trick pack of cigarettes made especially for people who are always bumming cigarettes. When a bummer says "Gimme a cigaret," you hand him this pack, and the cigaret he takes out has the word "Chizzler" written on it. That's supposed to be pretty devastating. He wanted only 40 cents for it. Fortunately I didn't have 40 cents.

Just as I was about to move on a woman came in and recognized an acquaintance. "Hello, Ella," she said. "Did you know my daughter died? She died in Toronto. We took her to Detroit, and then we came back here. All our people are buried in Detroit."

Outside a sign said JOBS and under it were a lot of cards. A long queue of men was filing past the cards, reading them. One of them read: "Wanted, Janitor—20 family apartment. $25 month and four rooms." Another said: "Chef wanted—good pay." . . . A third said: "Middle-aged couple to maintain family place—apply within."

* * *

YOU begin to catch on about Sixth avenue, eh? A truck rumbles past and on it is the legend: "Yat Gaw Min—Noodle Manufacturer." A sign in a window says "El Duelo de los Sexos," but it isn't a peep show or a burlesque. It's just something between paper covers that some Spanish author thought up.

Then a man comes out of a shop door and bumps into someone he knows. "Eddie," he cries. "Well where in the world have you been hiding—in Jail?"

Eddie looks startled. He says: "Must you tell it to everybody?" The other man is suddenly and horribly embarrassed. "Gee, kid, I didn't know. I was only fooling, honest I was."

That's the way it goes. That's Sixth avenue. It's 40 solid blocks of bric-a-brac, fish hooks, steam shovels, elevated trains, and taxicabs.

GERMANY MAPS SHARP REPLY TO ATTACK BY U. S.

Berlin Slams 'Partiality' By Roosevelt After Statement Blasts Purge Movement.

to the German foreign office late yesterday regarding destruction of American property during the recent anti-Jewish demonstrations.

In a written note, the embassy on behalf of the American government reserved the right to claim damages for the destruction.

The American diplomatic step was taken independently of the farewell visit yesterday of Ambassador Wilson to Foreign Minister Joaihim Von Ribbentrop.

Wilson was busy today cleaning up pending business at the embassy, and giving final instructions to Prentiss Gilbert who will be American charge d'affairs in his absence.

Despite the fact that the day was a holiday—"the day of penitence," somewhat akin to America's Memorial day—the American ambassador received a number of diplomatic callers.

German officials were also extremely busy. Chancellor Hitler who returned to Berlin before going to Dusseldorf to participate in the funeral services tomorrow for the late Ernst Von Rath, was engaged in conferences with close advisors.

Meantime the belief was gaining ground in many quarters that the German government may retaliate for Wilson's summons to Washington by calling home to Berlin its ambassador in the United States, Hans Dieckhoff, for a consultation in the near future.

Closely Co-operate.

It was learned in diplomatic quarters that the various foreign embassies here are working in closer co-operation in the procedure of their representations to the German government in connection with the aftermath of the anti-semitic demonstrations.

The embassies chiefly concerned are seeking three things from the German government.

In the first place, they are asking damages for property of their nationals which was damaged or destroyed.

Second, they want assurances that Jews living in Berlin who are foreign citizens, such as, for example, American Jews resident here, will not be included in the settlement of the $400,000,000 fine levied against the Jews.

Third, the diplomats ask assurances that foreign Jews be permitted, at least in principle, the right to continue to do business here if they so desire.

The embassies, according to information available today, will make formal protests if they consider them justified after getting replies from the Wilhelmstrasse on the three points enumerated.

Ambassador Hugh Wilson's conference with President Roosevelt, federal officials said today.

Expression of this belief followed the president's disclosure that he personally gave the order for the American envoy to return from Berlin at once to report on anti-Semitic violence.

"The news of the past few days from Germany has deeply shocked public opinion in the United States," Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday at his press conference.

"Such news from any part of the world would inevitably produce a profound reaction among American people in every part of the nation.

"I myself could scarcely believe that such things could occur in a Twentieth century civilization."

The president read his brief statement—an unusual procedure—to the reporters gathered fanwise around his souvenir-cluttered desk. His voice was serious and his manner solemn.

Government officials regarded his remarks as highly important, inasmuch as the head of a nation rarely comments on internal developments in another country.

Italy Lashes at Roosevelt 'Meddling.'

ROME—(INS)—An angry burst of headlines in Italian newspapers today greeted the statement by President Roosevelt denouncing the anti-Jewish measures adopted by the Nazi government in Germany.

"Roosevelt, protector of the Ghetto," said the headlines, "sheds tears for Jews but declares himself determined to arm and bolster North American imperialism."

Officially, the question of the American president's statement was termed "too delicate to permit comment."

Nevertheless, it was obvious that government quarters here regarded President Roosevelt's humanitarian plea as an example of "unnecessary meddling."

Says Constipation Like Traffic Jam

Results Same in Disorders, Confusion and Delay

Famous World's Tonic Helped Straighten Out Mess

A traffic jam ties up traffic, causes nervous excitement, confuson and delay and soon the congestion reaches into cross streets and ties up other arteries and passages that should have a free flowing movement in order to keep all traffic moving in an orderly manner. It doesn't take much imagination to apply the foregoing description to a person who is tied up by occasional constipation. From starting in the stomach the effects of constipation could reach out and affect other parts with trouble and disorder until one was all tied up as bad if not worse than a traffic jam. See how Mr. Harry J. Weber of 432 Lake Ave., N. E., Massillon, O., makes this comparison.

"I've suffered from constipation for so long and have had so many other troubles result from it that I couldn't help thinking it was almost like a traffic jam. Constipation can start in your stomach and when you let the food traffic pile up instead of digesting and moving on properly it won't be long before other parts start clogging up just like the side streets do in traffic. Poor elimination in my case affected so many other parts that I was frightened. My liver was sluggish, my kidneys weak. My head was affected with dizziness caused by rush of blood and my eyes were bothered with spotty vision at times. Pains in my back and limbs at times were awful. During some days even my feet and ankles would swell and stay like that until I got off my feet and in bed. So you can see I can truthfully say 'I was bothered clear from my head to my toes.'

"It seemed that constipation just worked overtime to pile up poisons that brought on many kinds of sickness and ills.

"I came across World's Tonic at the shop where I work and started taking it several weeks ago. It certainly straightened out the traffic jam of constipation beautifully for me. And as soon as I started getting orderly movement here, all the side issues started clearing up in grand style just like the side streets start clearing in traffic when the main street traffic starts to move."

World's Tonic is intended to assist nature in promoting a free and liberal bowel action. You do not have to buy extra pills or tablets to get results.

announced several days ago it was the best pheasant county in the state, and as a result Upper Sandusky, the county seat, swarmed with hunters yesterday morning. The one hotel was taxed to capacity with hunters who stayed overnight.

Most Mansfield hunters reported exceptionally good luck, many of them bagging the limit, two pheasants and four rabbits early in the afternoon. Some reported running into as many as 50 pheasants in one field, while the rabbits were plentiful and were in good condition despite the warm weather.

Farmer Joe Mott of near Shelby who gained considerable notice when he advertised that hunters who had no place else to go, could hunt all they liked on his and adjoining farms, and that his wife would have sandwiches, soup and pie for them, was host to about a dozen hunters.

Mott began advertising his hospitality several years ago when most of the farmers in the county posted notices on their farms against hunting. He said today that he expected as many as 50 to take advantage of his invitation Saturday.

PROFITABLE TRIP

Alaskan Fishermen 'Catch' Believed to Be Ambergris.

JUNEAU, Alaska—(INS)—A seven-pound catch made by six Juneau halibut fishermen recently may bring them a better price than a three-weeks' haul of fish. The "catch," a lump of whitish substance found floating in the sea, is believed to be ambergris, highly valued for use in making expensive perfumes. Ambergris brings from $20 to $100 an ounce. The chunk will be sent to the University of Washington for analysis.

NEW NICKELS

Jefferson 5-Cent Pieces Out But City Hasn't Any Yet.

Although the new Jefferson nickels were in circulation today, Mansfielders may not be able to obtain them from banks here for several days.

Bankers said they had placed no orders for the new five-cent pieces with the federal reserve banks and did not plan to obtain any immediately unless the demand for them makes it necessary.

They explained that they usually have a surplus of nickels from the daily business transactions and rarely find it necessary to purchase new ones.

About 11,000,000 of the new coins were distributed yesterday in the nation. The coins portray a profile of Thomas Jefferson, third president and author of the Declaration of Independence, on one side, and his Monticello home on the other.

Home Hygiene, Care of Sick

This is another of a series of articles on the varied activities of the Red Cross, written by the chairmen of the activity divisions.

By MISS FLORENCE WAGNER

Considering the large number of injuries that occur each year in the home, taking an unnecessary annual toll in life, suffering and economic loss, it is well to appreciate the fact that the American Red Cross has delegated a part of its organization to draw up a program to bring about a better understanding of the causes and methods of prevention of these injuries.

Since organizing such a program, both adults and children have become more conscious of their own carelessness in this regard and with an intelligent knowledge of the serious results incurred they become a wiser and more cautious people.

In most cities and rural sections throughout the country classes in home hygiene and safety measures, as well as care of the sick, are being conducted under the supervision of the Red Cross to instruct members of families in precautions to be taken to prevent home disasters. Through lectures, literature, discussion, demonstration and practice men and women are taught: Individual health and hygiene, cleanliness, sanitation and health in the home, care and training of normal babies, pre-school and school children, care of the aged, recognition of signs of illness and the care of the sick in the home.

Red Cross efforts to attain its objective in accident prevention are numerous. They include the organization of community prevention committees, annual home and farm inspection campaigns, general accident prevention publicity and special publicity on seasonal hazards.

Richland county has the advantage of classes of this nature. It is up to the individual to aid in reducing the number of accidents occurring in the home, which are more numerous than accidents on the highway. By enlisting in the organized classes every member of the family can become a trained Red Cross attendant capable of administering first aid, thus saving life and preventing permanent injury to dear ones in times of great emergency.

Only by contributions during the Roll Call this month are such beneficial activities conducted.

● WALTER READS ON about how this Standard Oil Guaranteed Starting doesn't cost a cent extra. He agrees it's a boon and gives me his solemn promise to get his SOHIO Starting certificate next day.

● WE ARE PUTTING ON the dog a couple of weeks later—one of those evenings we save up for. After the dance we get in the car and I notice we are not getting started very fast. "If we aren't going anywhere," says my date, "why does Walter keep pushing that starter?"

● WELL, THE STARTER GOES from weak to puny and finally quits cold. "Think nothing of it," I chirp. With that I dash in, call up a garage, and tell 'em to start our old crate. Walter does a sphinx act, though, very glum and not a word out of him.

● "CHEER UP!" I tell him when we get home, "we can send our garage starting bill to Standard Oil." Very sheepish, Walter says: "I hate to tell you this, but—" Then he stops, because I have a good grip on his necktie. "Don't bother," I glare. "I catch on. You DIDN'T get Guaranteed Starting."

Britain Recognizes Italian Ethiopia, Opens Trade

TREATY WITH ITALY TAKES EFFECT TODAY

Press Criticism of British Halts; France Negotiates Friendship Pact.

(By Associated Press)

ROME—Italy emerged as the final victor today in the war England led against her during the Ethiopian campaign in 1935.

By the two-nation peace understanding which became effective today, Britain formally recognizes the Ethiopian conquest and extends trade opportunities to the territory.

By contrast, Britain with France sponsored the League of Nations fight which ended Oct. 22, 1935, when 52 league nations agreed to boycott Italian exports.

The economic protest did not deter Italy from taking Ethiopia, but it did bring resentment against Britain, now ended by the British-Italian accord, and to a lesser degree against France.

2 Powers Hold Out.

Soviet Russia and the United States are the only big powers who have not yet recognized the Ethiopian conquest. The United States did not participate in the economic boycott.

France has accredited an ambassador to Italy as the new empire, but has not yet reached a friendship understanding although negotiations are proceeding.

The Fascist press has stopped attacks on the English but still is critical of the French. (French politicians today said Italy wanted important concessions from French Africa which France would oppose).

Premier Chamberlain of Britain got the friendship accord with Italy exactly seven months ago, after the resignation of Anthony Eden who as foreign secretary opposed it. He had engineered the sanctions campaign.

It was delayed in going into effect while Italy withdrew several thousand of soldiers from the insurgent army in Spain and until the Czechoslovak crisis was resolved peacefully.

An Italian declaration disclaiming territorial designs upon Spain is an important part of the understanding.

Columbus Gets Its Breath After Visit By Mrs. Roosevelt

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Buckeye capital took a breathing spell today to recover from a visit by the first lady of the nation, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Here for a lecture, Mrs. Roosevelt told an audience of 3,000 at Memorial hall that "we at home should preserve an attitude of tolerance toward all races and religions and not allow ourselves to be swept away by prejudices."

She went on to hit at persons who attempt to scare the country with talk of "isms" which they say are destroying Democracy, adding:

"I do not think these isms are threatening democracy. The people who talk of Fascism and Communism are only trying to frighten some of us. I do not like people like that."

Most of her address was confined to what she said were the duties of a "wide awake cizizen," but her lecture was only the climax of a whirlwind day that left her official reception committee breathless.

Beginning almost the moment she stepped from her train, Mrs. Roosevelt embarked on a tour of the city and institutions which taxed the energy of her reception committee to keep up.

Up and Down THE STREET

The old wood mail boxes in the first floor lobby of the courthouse, a "landmark" in the building for about 30 years, were replaced today by six shining new metal boxes to serve the offices on the top floor. The new boxes, purchased by county commissioners, were erected by Anton Moritz, custodian of the courthouse, who decorated them with gold paint. Carriers are not required to climb to the top floor of the courthouse.

One of the Mansfield nimrods who was mourning his opening day luck was Paul Christman, 60 Arthur avenue. He not only failed to bag a bunny or bird, but got a ducking in the Black Fork creek that he will long remember. In attempting to cross the stream on what appeared to be an accumulation of logs and debris, Christman slipped into the icy water up to his neck. A kindly farmer decked him out in dry clothes to permit him to continue his unsuccessful excursion into the woods.

Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer at The News-Journal's cooking school this week, is probably one of the very few women in the world who cook while bedecked with orchids. Each day of the school Miss Chambers and her assistant, Miss Elizabeth Rucker, wear shoulder corsages from the Kafer Flower store, and today, pinned to her white uniform as she mixed up the biscuit dough and fried steak, there was one regal orchid.

Charles F. Ackerman, Mansfield's "youngest" bank president, couldn't be bothered with a mere birthday today because this was one of his established hunting days. The first and second days of each season finds him in the fields, gun in hand, and returning each night with the day's limit. But just to remind the "youngster" that it WAS his anniversary, there will be 81 long-stemmed, dark red roses in his home, 75 Sturges avenue, when he returns from the fields this evening. They were sent today—one for each year of his life—by his fellow-workers at the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank.

Error Cuts Weygandt Margin Over Wanamaker to 5,000.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt's majority in the Nov. 8 election stood at a scant 5,000 votes today over his opponent, Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of Akron, on the basis of reports mailed to the secretary of state, the only appreciable shift in early figures on statewide races.

Reports from county election boards, unofficial except for Mahoning county, gave Weygandt 890,210 to 885,290 for Wanamaker, a Republican. Telephone reports election night showed Weygandt leading by about 19,000 but the secretary of state said a Mahoning county error was found. Inadvertent reversal of figures accounted for a difference of about 6,500 votes.

CHARGES LEWIS LOST FOR DEMS

Davey Says Republican Slide In Ohio 'American Victory'; Hits 3rd Party Move.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The result of the recent election in Ohio represents "an American, not a Republican victory," in the opinion of Gov. Martin L. Davey.

The executive declared last night in addressing the Ohio Society of New York that CIO Chairman John L. Lewis "dragged the Democratic party down to defeat in Ohio."

Governor Davey participated yesterday in the dedication of the $60,000 Ohio building at the 1939 World's Fair site. Two hundred former Ohioans attended the inaugural ceremonies.

Urging "an actual coalition movement of simple Americans, governor told the society that neither the Democratic nor Republican party could "carry the load of John L. Lewis and his CIO."

He said he hoped Mayor LaGuardia of New York would unite into a third party all "so-called" Progressives.

"Let them pack into it all the Communists, Reds and nuts in the United States," the governor said. "Then let the rest of us get together and lick hell out of them."

Recalling Lewis' statement on the eve of the CIO convention at Pittsburgh that the Democratic party should "purge" itself of "the Daveys and Hagues," the governor remarked:

"I can't speak for Mayor Hague of Jersey City because I do not know him, but I do know that Lewis was a Republican up to three or four years ago.

"Now this stranger is in our house and wants to take control. But I've got a lifetime lease on that house. I have been a Jeffersonian Democrat all my life and propose to continue being one."

TAKE STEPS TO PLACE 37 CITY WORKERS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist today had taken steps to place 37 city employes under civil service, in compliance with an order of the civil service commission last April calling for the classifying of municipal employes in three departments.

The officials this week received from the commission an eligible list of approximately 50 names from which they will make 37 provisional appointments.

The eligible list carries the names of all persons who passed the civil service examinations last June. From it the service director will appoint 23 employes in the street department, 10 in the garbage department and four in the waterworks department.

There are now 32 employes in the street department. Nine who failed to pass the examination will be classed as class "B" labor which does not come under the civil service laws. In the garbage department five employes failed to make the grade and will be classified as class "B," Nist said.

Four employes in the waterworks passed the examination and are expected to receive appointments that will place all workers in that department under the merit rating system.

The action by the mayor and service director follows a ruling by the civil service commission last April which called for the placing of all unclassified municipal jobs under civil service.

MARK BIRTHDAY

200 Attend 95th Anniversary Dinner of Arch Masons.

Nearly 200 Masons attended the 95th anniversary celebration of Mansfield Chapter No. 28, R. A. M. last night at Masonic temple.

The observance was opened with a dinner, followed by a business meeting during which Joseph C. Neer of Urbana, past high priest of the Urbana Chapter, was the guest speaker. He spoke on "Government and Masonry."

During the dinner hour, a report of memberships from 1903 to 1938 was given by John Weil, chapter secretary, who also introduced Charles S. Hill, the oldest living past high priest of the chapter who served in 1903. There are 22 living past priests of the chapter, 16 of whom attended the anniversary meeting and were introduced by Weil. The chapter was founded in 1843.

SPRING STRIKE LEAVES 6,200 WORKERS IDLE

Union Labor Called Off Jobs In Other Plants In Move to Force New Contract.

(By International News Service)

JACKSON, Mich. — Police and non-union workers were removed from the struck Reynolds Spring company plant under a 24-hour truce today but the "labor holiday," called to bolster the United Automobile Workers union picket line with 6,200 workers from other plants, remained in effect.

The truce was reached between UAW local President Earl Raudman and Mayor Russell Bengel, who had issued the order for police to march to the plant with tear and nausea gas guns and then had personally led the march of 125 officers.

The workers called from eight automobile accessory plants by the union leaders remained idle.

Closed One Week.

The Reynolds plant, employing 1,800 men, was closed last Wednesday by a strike called in protest against the company's refusal to grant a new contract. Subsequent negotiations failed to bring about an agreement.

Yesterday the company advertised it would open its plants this morning.

At 6 a. m. more than 125 police and special deputies, led by Jackson Mayor Russell Bengel, and armed with tear and nausea gas guns, assembled at the plant gates to escort nearly 200 members of the American Labor league, an independent union, into the plant.

The UAW had assembled 2,000 pickets at the gates.

Only four workers scrambled through the dense picket lines. There was no violence, although several windows were smashed.

Shortly after, UAW International Representative T. R. Rymal called the labor holiday, saying:

"I will keep every union man out of work as long as police threaten to interfere with us."

Affected by the labor holiday were the Eaton Manufacturing company, the Michigan-Walker company, Ryerson Manufacturing company, the Frost Gear company and the Hancock Manufacturing company.

DRIVERS STONED

Violence Flares In WPA Truck Dispute at Akron.

AKRON—(AP)—Two WPA truck drivers were slightly hurt today as a band of men armed with rocks stopped hauling on two WPA projects and smashed windshields and fenders on a score of trucks.

Charles Fessler, 58, and Arthur Slosser, 29, WPA drivers, were slightly hurt when struck in a barrage of rocks. They said 20 to 25 men in automobiles halted them and their fellow-drivers, damaged all the trucks and forced the drivers to dump their cargoes of rocks in the streets.

The dump truck operators' union here has been picketing WPA projects for nearly three weeks in protest against the letting of hauling contracts on the basis of competitive bidding.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Men Not So Dumb When They Let Women Believe They Make All Decisions

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Ladies constitute a separate race, so different from men that it is impossible to understand what goes on with them. The best a man can do is guess.

It is a good deal like talking with a Frenchman. For instance, they never pick up a check but, just by turning on the old charm, they can make you feel that it is an honor and a privilege to do all the buying. I don't know what it is that makes ladies and Frenchmen feel that it would be undignified of them to lift a little weight now and again, but they do feel so, and, what is more, they put it over.

As an example, one night when I was a very young cub reporter I made the acquaintance of a lady while strolling in an amusement park 'way out on the west side of Chicago, and in no time at all was tempting her pretty lips with beer and sandwiches. This went on to the extent of about $2, and as we left the beer place I had only $1 left. Then she saw a man selling kewpie doll lamp shades and squealed that she would love to have one. She lisped.

The man shoved it in her hands. "How much is it?" I asked.

"A buck," the man said, so I gave him the buck and had to walk home—about five miles. There is just no sense to such things, but there is something about ladies—and Frenchmen, too—which makes us try to create with them an impression of wealth and open-handedness.

They have secrets, too. They have a private opinion of men as a race, and they always analyze us and pitch to our weaknesses all the time to make us do as they want us to. You have to piece this knowledge together from experience and remarks that they let slip sometimes, like when they are sore over something. Boys can't understand it at all.

Ladies think most men are conceited and either need bolstering from their wives or bolster themselves all the time by telling their wives how wise and strong they are, in which case they are terrible bores.

They look at a man's waistline, and if he is getting blappy around there they feel humiliated and think back to when he was lithe and young. But generally they mask their true meaning about this by saying that he was altogether too skinny when he was a bridegroom and that this new handsomeness and filling out is due to good feeding at their hands.

This is a velvet knock, but there would be a terrible time in the love bower if the husband should say, "Well, Sugar, I was just noticing how you have widened out yourself from the good providing that you have enjoyed since I took you off your family's hands, and I think it is fine, because there wasn't much of you then. Just a slip of a girl then. Just a pretty little thrip."

But the husbands don't say that. They grin about their increased heft and make jokes about how scrawny they were 20 years ago, but they try not to let on that they have noticed any difference in her. That would be worth a man's life.

Ladies think they just take over where the man's mother leaves off and continue the job of keeping him up on his manners, guiding him in his affairs and making his important decisions for him, while at the same time making him think he makes the decisions. Under this system they can take credit for all the smart decisions and claim that the mistakes were made when he wouldn't listen.

As will be seen, all this is defensive business. Ladies are just right at the right time with some man when they are young and marrying, but in time they begin to have little nags back and forth as the man regains his mental balance. So they build up this quiet superiority and smiling condescension business, decide that there is no harm in letting them think that way if it makes them any happier. Usually, when a lady thinks she has been quietly shrewd and induced her husband to make some wise decision in his affairs the fact is that he intended to make that decision all along.

Men are not such dummies. They are the clever ones to let the ladies think they are dummies to keep things happy. But that is just it. Why does it make these strange people happy to think they are married to dummies?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It has happened at last. The stage has taken a trick from the screen. And a very clever trick it is.

Nothing like "Soliloquy" has ever happened before in the theater. This is strange, because the facilities for such a play have been at hand for some years now. A chap named Victor (or Victor twice, if you prefer) saw those facilities lying around and he wrote a play. So a lot of people are thinking, "Now, why didn't I think of that?"

"Soliloquy" represents a wedding of stage and talking screen. It's all acted, there before your very eyes, by a cast of 40 people, headed by John Beal (also of the movies) and John Beal's wife, Helen Craig (who since opening night here has had plenty of movie offers). But it's acted also by a regular movie sound track, which supplies the hero's unspoken thoughts.

You'll think, at once, of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," in which all the characters thought and thought and thought so much—aloud—that the show lasted nigh on to five hours. "Soliloquy" is different. Only one character thinks aloud (courtesy of the sound track). He keeps right on doing what he's doing while he's thinking, too. He does not pause and stare off into space, disconcertingly, as they did in "Strange Interlude" while thinking out loud.

THE result is highly interesting. When "Soliloquy" opens on Broadway, about two months hence, you'll learn from the Broadway critics whether it's a good play by Broadway standards. We in Hollywood would be swayed a little in judgment by our interest in its method of presentation. We all liked it—but then we see so many movies. . . .

John Beal spent two days recording the character's "thoughts" on film, accurately timed to be audible only at the proper cues.

You'd think the possibilities of error, during a performance, would be appalling. If any player missed a cue, or blew a line, or made too much haste through a scene, the whole production might be thrown out of order. But they've guarded against that, first with letter-perfect rehearsals, more importantly with technical precautions.

THE sound projector is above the rear of the stage and below, constantly in attendance, sits a sound technician, script in hand. It's up to him to make the thoughts "wait" or "hurry" as the actual playing requires.

Beal's understudy has a voice like Beal's. Gwyllyn Ford stands by the technician—with more opportunities than the usual understudy. When "Soliloquy" opened in San Francisco, one of those terrifying first-night catastrophes struck. The sound track went "dead." But the audience didn't know it. The sound technician keeps a microphone handy, and Ford spoke Beal's "thoughts" directly into the mike—through three scenes until the film was working again.

Does Your Breath Broadcast— "I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.
